Hurricane Inez Rips Into Communist Cuba

Fear Storm May Strike Florida Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Inez, sucking new power into her system from the tepid waters of the Caribbean, lashed and tore at Cuba again today and once more Floridians followed the killer storm's erratic course with alarm.

Just when forecasters were considering the "all clear" sign for Florida, Inez crossed them up during the night with a westward turn that brought all of Communist Cuba in range of her howling winds and torrential rains.

And, as Prime Minister Fidel Castro glumly watched an economic disaster develop in his already tottering nation, Inez became again a definite menace to the U.S. mainland.

138 M.P.H. Winds

With more than 100 dead in her wake and possibly many more, Inez screamed out of the southeast into Cuba's easternmost Oriente Province Friday, battering that agriculturally rich area with wind gusts up to 138 miles an hour.

The Weather Bureau thought then she would veer northward, come off the island into the Atlantic, then hammer the central Bahamas on a track that would keep her clear of Florida.

But Inez never got to Cuba's north coast. Instead, she thrashed to west-northwest back into the Caribbean and howled along the south edge of the island on a snake-like course that is expected to bring her close to Havana late today.

Southeast of Havana

The 8 a.m. Weather Bureau bulletin estimated the location of the eye 200 miles southeast of Havana and 350 miles south of Miami. Inez was howling to

Winning War Comes First, Ike Asserts

CHICAGO (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has criticized careless spending of the taxpayers' money and says winning the war in Viet Nam quickly should take precedence "over the war on poverty or getting to the moon, or anything else."

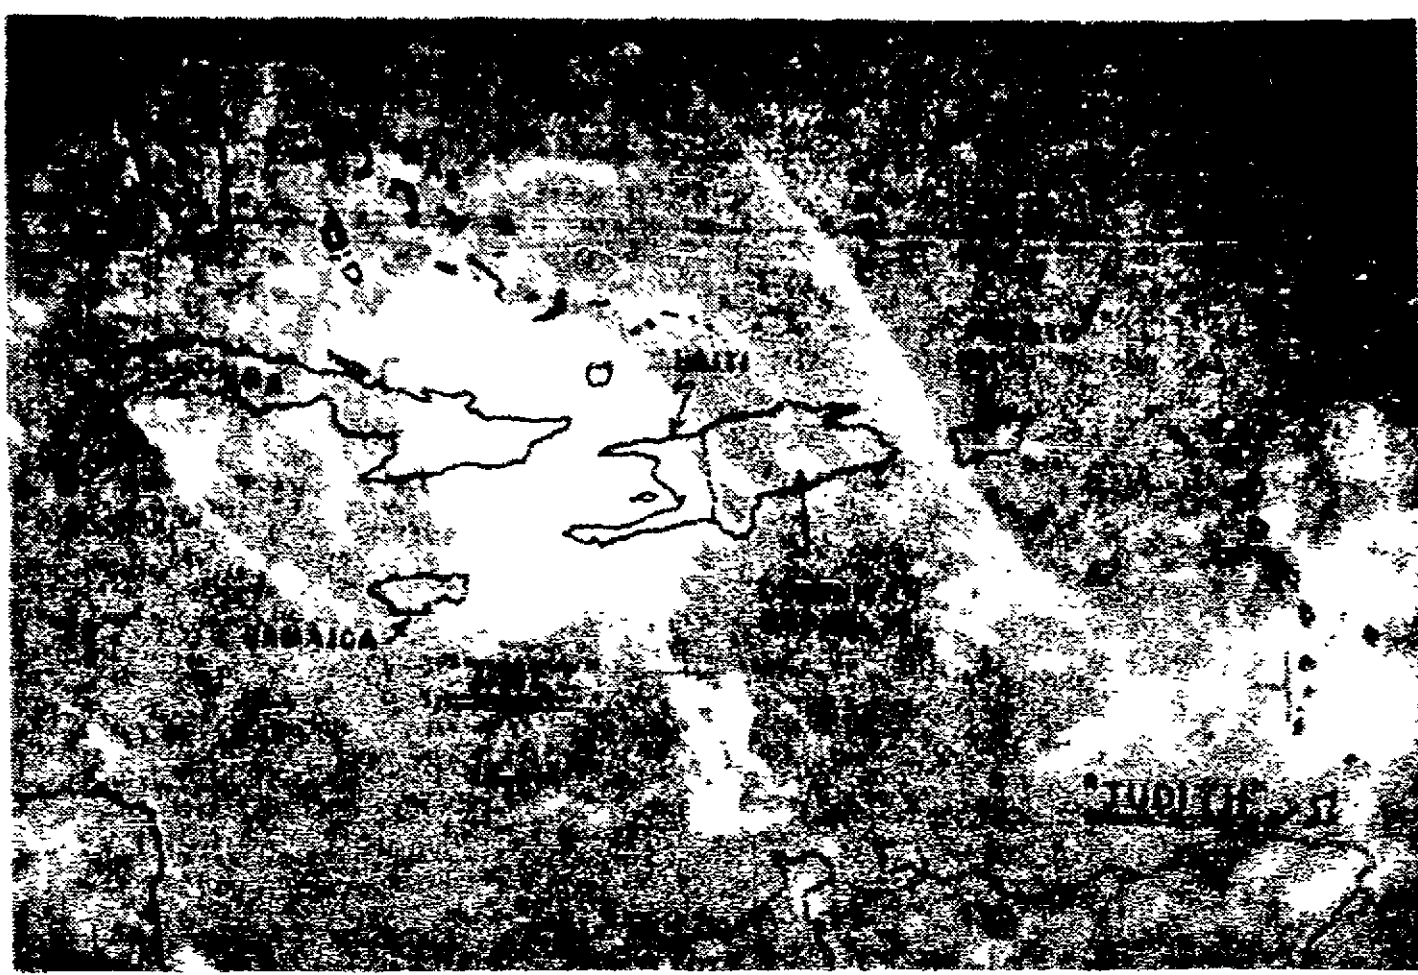

At a news conference Friday, Eisenhower advocated immediate application of "as much force as we need to win" the war. He added "I'd take any action to win," but he avoided a direct yes or no to a question whether he proposed use of nuclear weapons.

The war, he said "either will be won in, say the next 24 months or it will become much bigger than it is now." He did not elaborate.

The World War II military leader said the continuing war exerts military, economic and political forces "all in the same direction" toward making the party in power so strong it could pass "any kind of law they want."

Television Actor Eric Fleming drowned in a remote river in Peru's back country while filming a jungle picture, the U.S. Embassy in Lima reported Friday. Fleming, 41, star of the TV series "Rawhide," was lost when his canoe capsized in the swift river Wednesday. (AP Wirephoto)

Viet Cong Hit Hard by B52 Bombing Raids

Second Consecutive Day of Two Strikes By Huge Airplanes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers pounded Communist troops in South Viet Nam with two raids today for a second consecutive day of double strikes.

One of the raids hit at North Vietnamese infiltration routes just south of the demilitarized zone where American Marines are fighting North Vietnamese forces in Operation Prairie.

This is the area hit by the two B52 raids Friday. The latest bombing, at midnight Friday, struck 20 miles west of Dong Ha.

The other Stratofort raid hit the Peking People's Daily which warned the United States that it dared to force China into war "several millions of bravely fighting Liberation Army troops and several tens of millions of militia and Red Guards who are the fraternal rear of the Liberation Army" would be waiting.

The 59-year-old bespectacled defense minister, the No. 2 man in the Communist Chinese hierarchy, appeared with Mao and other leaders of the state and party before a crowd estimated at 2 1/2 to 3 million persons in Peking's Gate of Heavenly Peace Square.

State Parties Prepare Stands For Final Action

Knowles Writing Platform; Dems Change Unlikely

MADISON (AP) — Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles is writing his own platform to present to his party when the Democrats and the GOP meet Tuesday to adopt their formal stances for the fall campaign.

Knowles was known today to be readying specific proposals on a wide range of subjects from highway safety to vocational schools.

The suggestions will be offered as substitute planks within the framework of a more general platform passed by the regular Republican state convention in June.

The Democratic platform convention was expected to embrace the same stands taken at the party's regular state convention while shying away from any mention of the controversial resolution on Viet Nam passed three months ago.

The platform conventions are formal sessions set up under state law to present a program to the voters for the fall election. In practice, the conventions usually adopt the same platform hammered out at the regular state conventions in the summer.

Knowles, however, led a major overhaul of the Republican platform after he won the nomination in 1964. This year the governor again is expected to come in with his own recommendations, although they are pictured this time as specific proposals within the overall structure of the platform rather

Nowatzke Tops Lion Rushers

Detroit's Plum Seeks To Halt His Losing Streak Against Bays

Post-Crescent News Service GREEN BAY — You might say that the Lions' Milt Plum is overdue against the Packers, although his lone victory over Green Bay is still being talked about. Plum presided at quarterback when the Lions ended the Packers' 10-game winning streak in Detroit on Thanksgiving Day of 1962. That turned out to be Green Bay's only loss that year as the Packers went on to win the championship. This turned out to be excellent revenge for Plum who threw an interception that helped the Packers trip the Lions, 9-7, in the first game in 1962 — here, Herb Adderley made the steal and Paul Hornung kicked his third field goal in the last minute for the win. Since 1962 Plum started three games against Green Bay and lost all of them — one each in 1963, 1964 and 1965. He was a victim of the Pack's great upsurge in Detroit last year when the Packers zoomed back from a 21-3 halftime deficit to win, 31-21. George Izo, now with Pittsburgh, worked the entire 12-7 Lion victory over the Packers here last fall. Hurlis 128 Passes Plum, the onetime Cleveland ace, hurled 128 passes in five games vs. Green Bay and completed 56 for 705 yards and five touchdowns. The Bays intercepted 10 of his passes. While Plum may be overdue, the same could be said for the Lion offense, which has scored 45 points — lowest in the league among the clubs which have Football League team.

played three games, except Atlanta. Tom Nowatzke, the starting fullback who prompted the trade of Nick Pietrosante, leads the Lion scoring with three TDs, two by rushing and one on a 12-yard pass catch. Nowatzke, virtually a rookie since he played little in 1965, led the Lions in rushing with 136 yards. Amos Marsh is next with 125. The Packers, who lost five fumbles vs the Rams last Sunday, now have lost all seven of their bobbles thus far. The Bays' three opponents only fumbled twice and the Packers picked off both of them. The Lions lost four of six fumbles, their opponents four of eight. The Packers have run off 181 fumbles in their first three games, the Lions 159. Packer foes had 169 plays, the Lions' opponents 183.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two men have been promoted from the taxi squad to the St. Louis Football Cardinals roster, coach Charley Winner said Friday. They are guard Frank Roz, 21, from Utah and defensive tackle Fred Heron, 23, from San Jose State. Roy and Heron will fill the places left vacant by corner back Pat Fischer and offensive tackle John McDowell. Both were injured last week. McDowell is on the injured list of the National Football League team.

Tom Anderson scored three touchdowns in the final quarter for Hale's triumph. Whitefish Bay lashed Cudahy 34-6 to emerge the only unbeaten team in the Suburban league. Halfback Howie Zien scored three touchdowns as Whitefish Bay's ground assault totaled 326 yards—131 of them Zien's on 21 carries. Cudahy was held to only 30 yards rushing. West De Pere crushed Victoria 40-0. It was West De Pere's 15th consecutive victory. Dale De Rover scored twice and ran for 106 yards in eight carries. Among teams knocked from the unbeaten ranks were Chippewa Falls, a 27-6 loser to Wausau, and Spencer, a 13-0 loser to Abbotsford Wausau, taking undisputed lead in the Big Rivers Conference, gained 342 yards on the ground while holding Chippewa Falls to 16 yards rushing. The No. 9 team among the small schools, former ratings leader Colby, recovered from its 33-0 loss to Greenwood by bumping Neillsville 18-12. End Ed Streblow caught three touchdowns passes and covered 113 yards in Plymouth's 65-0 victory over Kiel. John Hauser scored twice and passed for another touchdown as Chilton downed New Holstein 32-13. Hauser hit 11 of 19 pass attempts for 294 yards. Spring, No. 8 in the small ten, stopped Lena 44-7 for its fifth consecutive victory. Grafton, No. 5 among the little ten and still unbeaten, felled Slinger 59-0 while Deermid No. 6, topped Johnson Creek 33-6. Neenah and Xavier Score Conference Football Wins

Rockets Top Papermaker Team, 28-6

BY TOM VANDER PAS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
KIMBERLY — The "Monsters of the Mid-Eastern Conference," Neenah's Rockets, looked like just another league member for two periods here Friday night, before exploding for a pair of third-quarter touchdowns en route to a 28-6 win over Kimberly's stubborn Papermakers.

The triumph kept the record of the state's third-ranked team unblemished in four contests, including three in a row in the M-E.

Kimberly's slate fell to 1-3 on the season and 1-2 in conference action.

The Papermakers gave their all prior to the intermission, holding the potent Rockets to a mere 7-0 lead at halftime.

A 10-yard roll-out scoring pass from Gary Losse to Jim Burton two plays into the second segment capped a 30-yard scoring march by the defending champions.

The same duo had set up the tally with an earlier completion covering 15 yards in the TD drive.

Passes For 10
Midway through the same canto, Kimberly made its deepest penetration of the half to the visitors' 39 on a 10-yard aerial from Jeff Vanden Heuvel to Dick Hamann, but four plays netted a minus five yards and Neenah took over on downs.

The Rockets dominated the third period, mustering eight of their 20 first downs in the contest, en route to a pair of touchdowns and a 21-0 advantage heading into the closing quarter.

The rifle-armed Losse hit the loop's scoring leader, Chuck Wismer, with a 6-yard touchdown pitch for the first counter and fullback Dan Meyer bulled over from one yard out for the other tally.

The key play in each drive was a Losse pass to Tom Bachhuber, one for 18 yards and the other for 26 to set up the two scores.

Bachhuber, going both ways for the Rockets, let Kimberly's Joe Malsavage get away from him midway through the fourth period, and Vanden Heuvel arched a toss to the sideline which Malsavage snared and raced 57 yards untouched for the lone papermaker score.

Neenah offset that marker on another 1-yard plunge by Meyer late in the game.

Dan Jankowski was successful on all four point-after kicks for the winners.

Xavier High School's resurgent football team, behind the shifty running of sophomore halfback Brad (Bubby) Graff, raced past De Pere Abbot Pennings, 25-7, on Goodland Field turf Friday night.

Afforded some key blocks by teammates, the Hawks' multi-talented youngster picked his way through the Pennings defense for 125 yards in 13 carries, scored two touchdowns on jaunts of 14 and 46 yards, completed his only two passes on the halfback option for 19 yards and, finally, nabbed another pass as a "safety valve" for one yard.

Young Graff's work, coupled with that of his hard-hitting teammates, triggered the Hawks to their second Fox Valley Catholic Conference triumph after an opening game loss to Oshkosh Lourdes. Pennings is 1-2 in FVCC play.

Nets First Down
Pennings managed just one first down after the opening kick-off and was forced to punt, with XHS taking control on their 30. A. B. Graff-to-Tom Heimritz aerial for 11 yards on a crucial third down play netted a key first down and the Hawks were on the move.

Shortly after, with third-and-7, Bubby swept the left side for nine yards and another key first down. Terry Graff, the older brother (a senior) of this terrific twosome, bulled his way for the next first down.

With third-and-6 on the Pennings 24, Bubby again swept the left side for 10 yards and racked up the next first down for the Hawks with a 6-yard trek to the 3-yard stripe. Quarterback John Wenning bulled into the end zone behind the hard-charging line on the next play. Lambert Geitman's extra-point gave the Hawks a 7-0 lead.

With just under a minute left in the first half, Wenning fired a perfect pass to Heimritz down the middle for 29 yards to the Pennings 1-yard line. Wenning again bulled in for the end zone and a 13-0 intermission edge.

Massengale, Glover Lead Rodriguez Fires 68, Trails by 1 In Canadian Open

VANCOUVER (AP) — Juan Chi Chi Rodriguez and Homero Blancas, a couple of Latinos with new leases on their golf games, gave a cha-cha beat to the Canadian Open Friday as they pushed close to the lead after 36 holes of the 72-hole competition. Rodriguez, a spindly, 123-pound Puerto Rican with a howitzer drive, shot a three-under-par 68, that combined with his 73 on Thursday for 141 and left him one stroke behind the leaders. Blancas, from Houston, is 70-73-143, three strokes back. Don Massengale of Jacksonville, Tex., and Randy Glover of Florence, S.C., playing with a driver borrowed from Blancas, share the lead with two-under 149s.

Cut to 74
The field of 143 amateurs and professionals was cut to 74 after Friday's 18 holes. Among those who missed the cutoff score of 150 were Ken Venturi, Billy Maxwell, Stan Leonard and Bob Charles.

Rodriguez, George Knudson of Wisconsin Supreme Court, the low Canadian, and sion which reversed baseball's Rod Funseth share second Co-favorites Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper were both well off the pace. Nicklaus had a 145. National League and its 10 Casper had a 148. Defending champion Gene the Braves from Milwaukee to Litter had his second bad day and totaled 149.

Supreme Court to override a 4-3 Wisconsin Supreme Court decision against baseball reached the printing stage Friday.

Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette was expected to fly to Washington within ten days to file a 36-page appeal with the state's highest court.

second half kick-off, punting to the Squires' 31-yard line. After John Koop bulled for two yards, the Hawks suffered their only serious defensive lapse of the night.

Pennings quarterback John Merline then rolled out around left end and raced 52 yards before being pulled down by Heinritz on the Xavier 15. Koop, carrying five times, covered the final 13 paces, scoring from the 1-yard line. Mike Baxter added the PAT to cut the spread to 13-7.

March 79 Yards

Triggered by a Wenning-to-Steve Rechner pass for 21 yards, the Hawks took the ensuing kick and marched 70 yards in 13 plays, with Graff scoring behind the blocking of brother Terry on a sweep from the 14. The TD was Bubby's first in conference play and his second overall as a XHS varsity member.

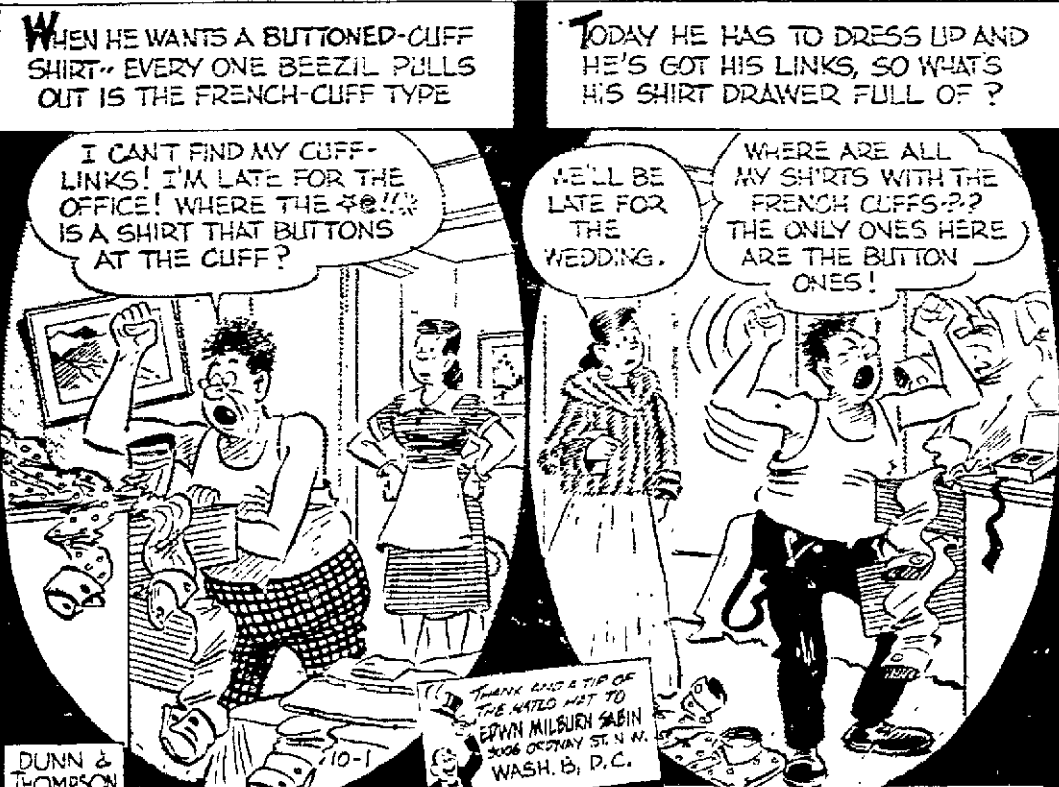

Young Graff's third score was quick to follow though, as he used key blocks from Jerry Rankin, Wenning and John Grosser to race unmolested down the sidelines for 46 yards and a 25-7 lead midway through the final period, all but squelching any thought of a Pennings comeback.

Rankin added 29 yards in nine carries for the Hawks, while Terry Graff, who was injured in the first period, added 28 paces in nine trips. Heinritz hauled in five of the nine XHS pass completions for 68 yards.

Koop finished with 23 carries for 81 yards, while Merline netted 49 yards in six trips. Tom DeRuyter, who ran against the XHS reserves in the fourth period, picked up 45 yards in five trips. Merline and Koop did all of the Squires' rushing in the first three quarters.

They'll Do It Every Time

Yankees Clinch Cellar Finish in AL as Chisox Triumph, 6-5 in 11th

By MURRAY CHASS

April showers bring May flow-ers, but September showers helped bring last place for the New York Yankees.

Not that the Yankees didn't earn the spot all by themselves. It's just that they got an assist from the rain.

The Chicago White Sox made sure the Yankees would finish in the American League cellar for only the third time in their 64-year history by edging the one-time perennial champs 6-5 in 11 innings Friday night.

The finish actually is the lowest the Yankees ever have had. When they finished in the cellar in 1908 and 1912 there were only eight teams in the league. Now there are 10.

Migh Have been 7th

The once mighty Bombers would have had a chance to finish as high as seventh if it hadn't been for the rain that fell earlier in the week. The rain in question fell in Washington last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and wiped out a three-game series between New York and the Senators.

Since the rain ended the season for eighth-place Washington and ninth-place Boston ran out of games, the Yankees went into the series at Chicago needing a three-game sweep to avert a 10th-place ending.

Three victories would have boosted them into an eighth-place tie with the Senators and would have dropped the Red Sox into the cellar.

Maris Homers

When Roger Maris hit a two-run homer in the top of the ninth inning Friday night, the Yankees thought they had reduced their magic number to two.

But Smoky Burgess singled home a run in the bottom of the ninth and John Romano singled one across in the 11th, and the Yankees magic went poof.

In other AL games, Minnesota swept Baltimore 10-7 and 6-2. Kansas City defeated Detroit 8-5 and California trimmed Cleveland 2-0.

Burgess' run-scoring single in the ninth was the 138th pinch hit of his career and extended his record. Romano's two-out single two innings later brought Mel Stottlemyre his 26th loss against 12 victories. He was 20-9 last year.

Second Place Tie

Minnesota pulled into a second-place tie with Detroit with the double victory over the champion Orioles. The Twins score and Don Hermesen passed roughed up one of Baltimore's top pitchers in each game.

Harmon Killebrew, Rich Rollins and Bob Allison homered off Dave McNally in the opener, and Killebrew and Don Mincher connected against Jim Palmer in the nightcap.

Kansas City downed Detroit with a three-run rally in the eighth inning, the last two runs coming on Dick Green's homer. Reiland's Bar moved into fourth Jim Gosger and Tim Talton with a 23-22 mark.

Mets Tally One in Ninth Astros' Dierker Retires 24 Straight and Loses

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Larry Dierker goes back to school Monday...and it won't be soon enough for the Houston Astros' Dierker. Fisher said, "He really pitched great."

Asked about the tension that accompanies every no-hit bid, Dierker replied, "It was growing on me, all right. Nobody said a word in the dugout, but the only thing that might have relieved the pressure was a run — and I didn't get one."

Have to Keep Going

"It's tough enough with a lead, but it's tougher in this kind of a game. Even if you get them out (in the ninth), you know you still have to keep going."

The 6-foot-4 Californian said he knew he was in trouble when the ball left Bressoud's bat in the ninth. "It was a fast ball, I knew it was hit hard, but I thought he (Mayer) might have a shot at it."

"It appeared to me the ball hit Mayer's back leg," Bressoud said after watching a television playback of his hit.

After Bressoud moved up on the wild pitch, Houston Manager Grady Hatton waived his infielders in to set up a play at the plate. But Hunt's soft liner up the middle glanced off Morgan's glove for the deciding hit.

Shawano Rallies to Beat Clintonville

Indians Stay Unbeaten in M-E With 3 TDs in Fourth Quarter

SHAWANO — Held scoreless, Perrault, John Martin booted for three and a half frustrating the go-ahead point.

Perrault then intercepted a Clintonville aerial on the Truckers' 25 and returned it to the team, 21-6, in a Mid Eastern Conference game here Friday night.

The victory left Shawano tied for the league lead with Neenah, each team winning its first three contests. Clintonville is now 0-3 in Mid-Eastern play.

The Truckers' Dennis Schwenke, who recovered three Shawano fumbles in the first half, pounced on a loose ball with 40 seconds remaining in the initial quarter to set up Clintonville's second period touchdown.

Driving 64 yards in 18 plays, the Truckers moved to a 6-3 advantage when halfback Paul Hoffman dove in from the 2-yard line. The attempt to run the conversion failed.

The Indians then took over and drove to the Clintonville four before a fumble stopped the march. Near the end of the period, Shawano pushed into Trucker territory and appeared to have scored on a pass play, but the receiver was ruled out of the end zone.

The Indian defense tightened in the second half, permitting the Truckers 34 yards total offense and only two first downs. The Clintonville defenders, meanwhile, continued their rugged play, guarding the double stripes tenaciously.

After being halted at the Clintonville six early in the fourth period, Shawano finally hit paydirt with 3:22 left to play on a 10-yard pass from quarterback Bill Gipp to halfback John

Indians Beat Amherst for Ninth Straight Victory; Manawa Cops

| CENTRAL WISCONSIN CONFERENCE | |

| Wittenberg | 3 0 |
| Amherst | 1 1 |
| Manawa | 1 1 |
| Marion | 1 2 |
| Iola-Scand. | 0 2 |
| Waupaca | 0 3 |

The co-leading Weyauwega Indians and Wittenberg Wildcats scored their third straight Central Wisconsin Conference Football wins Friday night.

Gerry Miller ripped off touchdowns of 75 and 53 yards to lead the Indians to a 34-0 rout of Amherst, while Wittenberg tallied twice in the second period to stop Marion, 12-0.

Manawa completed the night of shutouts by topping Waupaca, 13-0.

Both of Miller's tallies and his PAT accounted for the Indians' 13-point first period. Weyauwega added a TD in each of the final three periods also.

Fred Buchholz capped a 75-yard drive in the second period as he hauled in a 18-yard pass from Tim Nolan.

In the third period, after a 48-yard scamper by Buchholz, he positioned the ball on the four. Jack Montgomery punted over from the one two plays later.

With the second straight upset of the fourth quarter, sophomore end, Jim Nolan, brother of Tim, added the final tally on a 5-yard pass from Lordeff Behm.

Miller's performance included 154 yards in just six carries. Buchholz added 82 yards rushing. The victory was the ninth straight for Weyauwega over a 2-year span.

Wittenberg's defensive effort allowed Marion just 48 yards, 17 on the ground and 31 through the air while setting up one score.

The Wildcats struck pay dirt on the sixth play of the second period as Greg Buchman plunged over from the 1-yard line to cap a 47-yard drive.

Marion had the ball for only five plays after that, when Mark Broshek waylaid a pass and returned it 40 yards to the Mustangs' 16. Ken Schramm carried the ball over from the four on the third play following.

Manawa took the opening kickoff and marched 70 yards for a TD with quarterback Randy Behnke ramming across the goal line from 1-yard out. Ron Heim ran the PAT.

In the third canto Heim intercepted a pass and returned it 41 yards for a touchdown.

Two Youths Plead Guilty

16-Year-Olds From Manawa Had Been Involved in Accident

WAUPACA — Two 16-year-old, route 1, Manawa youths, involved in a recent traffic accident near Manawa, appeared in Municipal Justice Court Friday and pleaded guilty of traffic violations.

David Flanagan pleaded guilty of reckless driving and driving after revocation of his drivers' license. He was fined $100 and his license was revoked for one year.

Justice George Whalen ordered Flanagan to pay his fine within one year or the revocation would continue until the fine is paid.

Previous Charge

Flanagan's license had been suspended Aug. 18 when he pleaded guilty of driving too fast for conditions, a charge resulting from a single-car accident in the Manawa area.

Gary Hass' driver's license was suspended for 45 days after he pleaded guilty of permitting an unauthorized person to drive his car and of littering. He was arrested Sept. 4 for littering and Sept. 24 when he permitted Flanagan to drive his car.

Two 14-year-old rural Manawa girls were injured when the car Flanagan was driving struck a tree at 2:30 a. m., Sept. 24, east of Manawa on County Trunk X.

Both girls were taken to New London Community Hospital where one still is listed in serious condition.

Parents Held for Failing to Send Son to School

Mr. and Mrs. Robert LaVassor, route 1, Oneida, were being held in Outagamie County jail late this morning after they failed to post bonds of $150 each following their pleas of innocent to a charge of failing to send their 15-year-old son to school.

The LaVassors, who appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 after having been served with a bench warrant Thursday, were ordered to appear for trial Monday. They were to have appeared in court earlier this week.

The complaint, brought by officials of Seymour Elementary School, alleges that the LaVassors failed to send their son to school regularly from Aug. 26 to Sept. 22.

The LaVassors appeared in court several months ago on a similar complaint, and County Judge Gustave J. Keller ordered the case continued.

Officers Elected by Mothers of Clintonville Kindergarten Pupils

CLINTONVILLE — Officers were elected Wednesday night at the first meeting of the kindergarten Mothers' Club at the Rexford School.

They are Mrs. Peter Oberhauser, president, Mrs. George Nuske, vice-president, and Mrs. Ervin Radtke, secretary. Three treasurers were elected, one for each of the kindergarten classes, including Mrs. Arlyn Hein in Mrs. Clarence Enlert's room, Mrs. David Knapp in Mrs. Robert McMahon's room, and Mrs. Jerry Waite in Mrs. Carl Schultz's room. Mrs. Orlin Peters is publicity chairman and Mrs. Earl Behnke will prepare the scrapbook.

Following the business meeting, the mothers adjourned to the classrooms where each teacher explained her kindergarten program.

The next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 30 when fathers will be guests.

Wittenberg Considers School District

Favors Inclusion of Part of Shawano in Marathon County

WITTENBERG — The Wittenberg Board of Education went on record this week favoring the inclusion of the Shawano County portion of the school district as a part of the Marathon County Vocational and Technical School District.

The board also took initial steps on Thursday in developing plans of allocating staff, professional services.

Members indicated that early action is needed to alleviate school room shortages at Wittenberg. The school system now needs three more elementary classrooms and three high school classrooms. Eventually, seven substandard high school classrooms will have to be replaced.

A resolution of the board's vocational school action was drafted and forwarded to the director of Wisconsin Vocational and Adult Education and to the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education.

The board felt it advisable that their district be assured of Marathon County because Wittenberg is closer to Wausau. The other nearest vocational center would be Green Bay.

It is not compulsory for students in Shawano County to attend school until they are 16. In Wausau the age is 18. The board expects that the age of 18 will probably be accepted throughout the state, but the limits now will depend on the jurisdiction of the sectional district to which a school is assigned.

Mother's Club Elects Mrs. John Williamson For Delwood School

CLINTONVILLE — Mrs. John Williamson was elected president of the Delwood Mothers' Club at the 10th anniversary meeting held at the Delwood School.

Mrs. De Pree was elected secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Carl Dehnke, cookie chairman for the first semester, and Mrs. Donald Nordvik, second semester. Mrs. Gordon Poole, transportation chairman for the morning class, and Mrs. A. C. Turbio, afternoon class. Mrs. George Zachra, publicity chairman, and Mrs. Thomas Olson, program chairman.

Mrs. Clifford Rafoth, kindergarten teacher, discussed the mothers' vote to continue the policy of supplying cookies for the children.

Bear Creek Pupils Being Tested for Reading Ability

BEAR CREEK — The Cooperative Educational Service Agency's mobile unit for diagnostic remedial reading has arrived at the St. Mary Catholic School and is being used to test all children in grades three through six who are experiencing difficulty in reading, according to the superior, Sister Loretta.

About 50 pupils are expected to be benefited. The children will be tested in a group and if a major difficulty is revealed, each child will be individually tested.

The unit has two school improvement teachers and a psychologist, a technician for auditory and visual testing and a school psychologist who works with the classroom teacher in applying the child's difficulty.

R. Scott of Oshkosh has been designated remedial teacher for the community public and parochial schools. Public school children will be tested next week. Hearing and vision will be tested. A telebinocular will be used for eye testing.

The unit not only identifies the cause of poor reading but also provides suggested reading materials and teaches the child to read.

There was a lot of mail order business those days, as postage was cheap. In 1919, he bought a Model T, but continued using his horses in the winter for several years, until the roads were plowed. He recalls his cutter tipping over many times in the snow.

Pioneer Mail Carrier Recalls Amherst Route

AMHERST — When he started as a rural mail carrier on rural free delivery route 2, Charlie Olsen had a string of four horses and 145 boxes to serve.

The year was 1904 and Olsen was 34 years old. He observes his 96th birthday this week at the Iola Nursing Home.

Olsen was a lumber dealer in Amherst and sold his business after his application for mail carrier for the newly formed route had been accepted. Andrew Moberg was postmaster at that time. The postoffice was located in the Moberg building which is now the Moberg Print Shop.

Olsen recalls having to use before his family moved from Mis-

Chalk Up 32-13 Victory

Undeclared Tigers Whip New Holstein

CHILTON — The Chilton extra point and the Tigers had a Tigers turned a tight first half 22-13 lead.

McHugh, senior halfback, was straight 199 Eastern Wisconsin Conference victory, beating New Holstein Friday night, 32-13.

The Tigers explosive offensive unit cracked up a total of 424 yards, 220 rushing and 204 passing, while the defensive unit held the Huskies to a minus 27 yards rushing and total of 102 yards.

The Tigers opened scoring immediately after recovering an onside kick on the Huskies' 41-yard line. Quarterback John Hauser rolled around and set for the final eight yards and the touchdown.

The Huskies came back with a 75-yard drive capped by Gerald Woodfield's one-yard punter for the TD. John Feldner passed to Gary Preitner for the extra point and the Huskies had a 7-6 advantage.

The Tigers scored again in the second period on a 29-yard TD pass play. A Hauser to Nick Schneider pass was good for the extra point and Chilton led, 19-7.

The Tigers scored again in the second period on a 78-yard drive, with Hauser snaking over from the one for the score. A big play in the drive was a Hauser to Don McHugh pass that covered 39 yards.

New Holstein countered with a score on a Feldner pass to Joe Krupp for 11 yards. The extra point failed and at the half Chilton led, 19-13.

Chilton scored two more touchdowns in the third quarter to nail down the victory. Continue Two Burglary Cases In County Court

Consolidation of Charges Sought by Hortonville Youth

Continuances were granted Friday afternoon for two young men named in separate burglary charges.

A burglary case against Dennis C. Strong, 19, Hortonville, was continued to Tuesday afternoon to allow time to work out cooperation proceedings on other charges.

Strong was to have appeared Friday afternoon with his court-appointed attorney on charges of burglarizing Valley Auto Parts, 1829 W. Northland Ave., or Apt. 15, and American Tool Foundry Co., Stephenville, on Sept. 12.

Bond was continued at $2,500 on each of the two counts. Strong is being held in jail in lieu of posting the bonds.

A preliminary examination for Robert V. Krull, 23, 209 W. Pacific St., Appleton, was postponed to Oct. 7 when it was learned his attorney could not be present Friday afternoon because of a death in the family.

Race Travels Down Wolf, Fox to View Stream Banks

Public Works Bill Possible Source Of Funds, Representative Says

FREMONT — New sources of funds for streambank management along the Wolf and Fox Rivers will be explored with the federal government's public works bill high on the list of possibilities. Sixth District Rep. John A. Race, D-Fond du Lac, said Friday.

Race and members of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) took a 40-mile riverboat trip down the Lower Wolf and Fox Rivers, from Fremont to Eureka, to view recent attempts to protect streambanks.

Funds for streambank protection along the rivers have been "skimmed off the top" of Wisconsin's $5.5 million agricultural conservation allocation, Leiland E. Mulder, chairman of the state ASCS committee, said Friday. The projects, now numbering seven, are completed and seven proposed in Winnebago County alone, are available only to farmers working their land or using it for protection of wildlife along the river.

ASCS Payment

The ASCS has been paying 60 per cent to the landowners' per cent during the two years since the streambank special projects started. Officials expressed a feeling that other agencies should pick up some of the tab to lessen the load on the agricultural conservation allocation.

Need for streambank protection was pointed out by Walter Weideman, Winnebago County ASCS chairman. Thousands of acres have been lost to the rivers during the past several years, he said.

Those who argue that a federal approach to this problem is unnecessary are kidding themselves. Those in a position of public trust who refuse to deal with this problem effectively are doing us a great disservice."

Completed in 2 Years

All of the special projects seen Friday by Race have been completed within the past two years. The ASCS has found a process called "rip" the most efficient means of keeping the rivers inside their proper boundaries. Rip-rapping is hauling truckloads of limestone to the bank and depositing the rocks in the most strategic spots.

The limestone settles, providing a solid waterproof wall between the water and adjacent marshland or cultivated fields. In some places, officials said, boat wakes have washed riverbanks away at a rate of five feet a year.

Broad expanses of shallow water, a mile or more wide in some places, have covered lands that were once ideal for agriculture, Weideman said. As the rivers widen, navigation channels, as well as farmer's land are lost.

Dual Problem

Members of the ASCS said they were faced with a dual problem in streambank protection projects. First, the special project funds are insufficient to improve banks that need immediate attention.

Second, some farmers are unwilling to put up the 20 per cent matching fund necessary to

Kagen Attacks Byrnes' Silence on Water Pollution

DE PERE — Dr. Mary Kagen, eighth District congressional candidate charged Friday that his opponent had "once again ignored the needs of his constituents in a gesture of empty political defiance."

Speaking to a gathering of supporters about "mounting calls for an interstate approach to the Green Bay and Lake Michigan pollution problems," the Appleton physician said:

"My opponent stands by silently while it has become abundantly clear that polluters in both Wisconsin and Michigan are contributing to the pollution in the Bay and Lake. The solution to this interstate problem obviously involves cooperative interstate action.

"The spreading pollution menace must be stopped, but we cannot continue believing that a solution to this problem will come by itself and involve absolutely no pain.

"The major polluters along the Fox River must be forced to clean up their wastes. But they must be given help in this massive job or they could very well decide that the costs of such projects do not justify their continued operation here.

"Those who argue that a federal approach to this problem is unnecessary are kidding themselves. Those in a position of public trust who refuse to deal with this problem effectively are doing us a great disservice."

Budget Requests to Include Funds for Outagamie Port

Federal Backing for County's Navigational Aids Possible After Change in FAA Standards

Outagamie County officials were informed late Friday afternoon that the county airport qualifies for a navigational aid which will be included in future requests for federal funds.

The information came from Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Green Bay, who said he had been in contact earlier in the day with Daniel E. Burrow, acting director of the Kansas City, Mo., regional office of the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA).

Byrnes said Burrow told him, "On the basis of changes in planning standards, we have determined that Outagamie County Airport does qualify for a navigational aid" and future FAA budget requests will take it into consideration.

"In the meantime," Burrow said, "we are studying the possibility of establishing an instrument approach control zone which, if established, would increase the safety of instrument approaches at this location."

The latest announcement comes just two weeks after the FAA said it was amending its standards regulating the disbursement of funds for navigational aids.

The change in FAA airway planning standards meant that scheduled commuter and air taxi passenger movements became qualifying elements for navigational aids and facilities.

Byrnes, who was instrumental in securing reversal of the FAA policy which had excluded commuter passengers as qualifying elements, had asked the FAA regional office for action in providing the Outagamie airport with improved navigational aids.

"First in Country"

Supv. Al C. Fischer, chairman of the Outagamie County Board's airport committee, said, following Byrnes' announcement Friday, that the Outagamie port is the "first in the country" to qualify for this type of navigational aid.

Fischer said that should the primitive painter Henri Rousseau (1844-1910).

The film, obtained from the French Cultural Services in New York, may be seen at 10 a.m. in the Fine Arts Theatre of Air Wisconsin, Inc., the only scheduled passenger airline using Outagamie County Airport.

John Conway, vice president of Air Wisconsin, Inc., said he foresees the gradual establishment of a full instrument landing system at the airport of Greenville field.

Work to Start Soon

Sign Contracts for Crosswind Strip at Outagamie Port

Work could begin next week on a 5,200-foot crosswind runway at the Outagamie County airport, according to Al C. Fischer, County Board's airport committee chairman, the Fox Valley Construction Co., with a bid of $722,656, was awarded the paving contract.

Contracts for excavation, grading and paving work were signed Thursday afternoon by the Appleton firm was one of four companies that bid on the project in the absence of County Counsel A. W. Ponath who is on vacation. The contracts were immediately sent to the Minneapolis office of the Federal Aviation Agency for official action.

A contract for electrical work on the new runway still remains to be signed. It has not been returned from the State Aeronautics Commission, which approved the other two contracts.

Contracts Signed

The signing of the contracts follows by one month the opening of bids by an official of the Wisconsin State Aeronautics Commission.

The contracts unofficially awarded this week went to low bidders. The Raemisch Construction Co. of Middleton will do the excavating and grading work. The firm's bid was $211,890, lowest of eight proposals.

Officials of the Middleton firm told the Post-Crescent late this morning they were not sure when they could move in the equipment and start work, but state money will be included in their did not believe it would be the programmed expense items.

Progress on the airport work will depend largely on fall weather conditions, Fischer said. It is hoped the base work can be completed this fall. The new runway still remains 5,200 by 150-foot northeast to southwest runway should be ready for use by early next summer.

Included in the project will be a taxiway which parallels the new runway, another taxiway connecting the runway and apron areas, a concrete apron in front of the new Air Wisconsin hangar, and high intensity lighting for the new runway.

Total cost of the construction, according to low bid figures, will be $999,267.

The apparent low electrical bid was $64,721, submitted by the Household Utilities, Inc., of Kiel.

Federal funds will total about 40 per cent of the total cost of the runway job, while $30,000 in state money will be included in the programmed expense items.

Corporation Buys Land at Black Creek

BLACK CREEK — The Black Creek Improvement Corporation has purchased the 37-acre farm of Ervin J. and Florence Felton, part of which is adjacent to Black Creek Elementary School land.

The land contract executed Sept. 8, lists Roy Brandt as president and Veryl Sievert as secretary. Both are from Black Creek.

A portion of the land will be platted for future real estate development, it was learned. Some land may be available to the Seymour Community School District if the board of education expresses interest.

Waupaca Will Not Enter Land Bidding

Parcel Had Been Intended for Use as New Street in City

WAUPACA — The City of Waupaca has decided to discontinue negotiations for a parcel of land near the new county jail, which they had intended to purchase for a new street.

The 66 by about 300-foot parcel of land is part of the George Cartwright estate and is being sold by order of Judge Wendell McHenry. The property originally was to be sold by sealed bid. The city submitted the high offer of $4,050, but it was then ordered that open bidding be allowed. A second bidder, who had been low in the sealed bidding, offered more than the city.

At a special council meeting Friday, the council voted not to enter the open bidding.

The part of the parcel of land which would have been used as a street, is 49 feet wide at the Royalton and then runs back from the street 198 feet on an angle to nothing. If the city had purchased the entire parcel, the portion not intended for street purposes would have been resold. Mayor Lloyd Matheson said.

The high open bid was submitted by Maurice Kelly who owns land adjacent to west of the parcel of land being sold.

The remaining land needed for the street has already been deeded to the city by Waupaca County from the jail property.

The proposed street is plotted on the new official city map and when the city decides to construct the street the added property needed will be secured through normal procedures used in procuring property already designated as streets. Mayor Matheson said.

Student Charged With Marijuana Possession

Lawrence Sophomore Arraigned on Felony Count After Search of Fraternity Room

Robert J. Uhe, 18, a Lawrence University sophomore from Northbrook, Ill., Friday afternoon was arraigned in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 on a charge of selling marijuana from Uhe's room.

A search of his fraternity house room was made after a with an attorney and a Law-search warrant was obtained from University official, Thursday.

Material Analyzed

It was determined the substance found in his room was marijuana, following a laboratory analysis Friday in Madison. Uhe was held in the city jail from his arrest Thursday.

Uhe's arrest by Appleton detectives late Thursday came on to his court appearance Friday.

Investigation by Appleton detectives began after they learned Erdman allegedly sold 20 marijuana cigarettes to an Appleton man at a roadside tavern early the morning of Sept. 24.

Erdman is scheduled to appear in County Court Branch 2 at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday. The countenance was granted to allow him time to retain an attorney.

Possession and sale of marijuana both are felony offenses.

Corn Variety Field Day Is Monday

A corn variety demonstration plot field day is planned from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday at the Gerald Van Asten farm, route 3, Kaukauna, according to Russell Luckow, Outagamie County agricultural agent.

Luckow and Leonard Warner, vocational-agriculture instructor at the Appleton Vocational and Adult Training School, will discuss the 25 corn varieties planted in the plot. Nine are commercial and 16 are Wisconsin hybrids.

The Van Asten farm is located two miles east of Kaukauna on Outagamie County Trunk Z in the Town of Buchanan.

Man's Death Ruled Suicide

MENASHA — Lawrence J. Jost, 49, 1335 Catherine St., Menasha, was pronounced dead on arrival at Theda Clark Hospital this morning.

Winnebago County Coroner, Art C. Miller, ruled that death was a suicide caused by a 22 caliber pistol which Jost had placed in his mouth and fired.

Jost was found at his house, with a pistol in his hand, by his wife.

Time of death was set about 8:30 a.m.

Waupaca Man Fined $25 on Conduct Count

WAUPACA — Thomas J. Reed, 25, Colonial Hotel, was fined $25 and costs, Friday, when he appeared in Municipal Justice Court and pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct.

Reed was arrested Thursday night by city police after he created a disturbance at the home of his wife, from whom he is separated.

Wolf Commission Steering Group Hears Plans to Beautify Roadsides

Striving for the goal of more roadsides and is working with beautiful roadsides in the eight-state and federal agencies to county region of Wolf River Country will continue with even more enthusiasm during 1967, according to information given at a meeting of the Roadside Beautification and Open Space Steering Committee of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission, held Wednesday at Manawa.

The committee has been working in all areas to control and protect vegetation along the roads and roads of the area, and telephone companies, garbage and public use of the area, and college women and college students to retain professional trees and shrubs which provide good cover are being made to both private and public part of the Wolf River Citizens' Corps. The committee has Forests Advisory Committee, pointed out that it is being enlarged to include forestry management and parks and recreation subcommittee.

Robert F. Rogers, Ogdensburg, Wis., will continue as chairman and a general discussion of progress was presented.

W. Blomquist, area supervisor, Wisconsin Conservation Department, as chief planner.

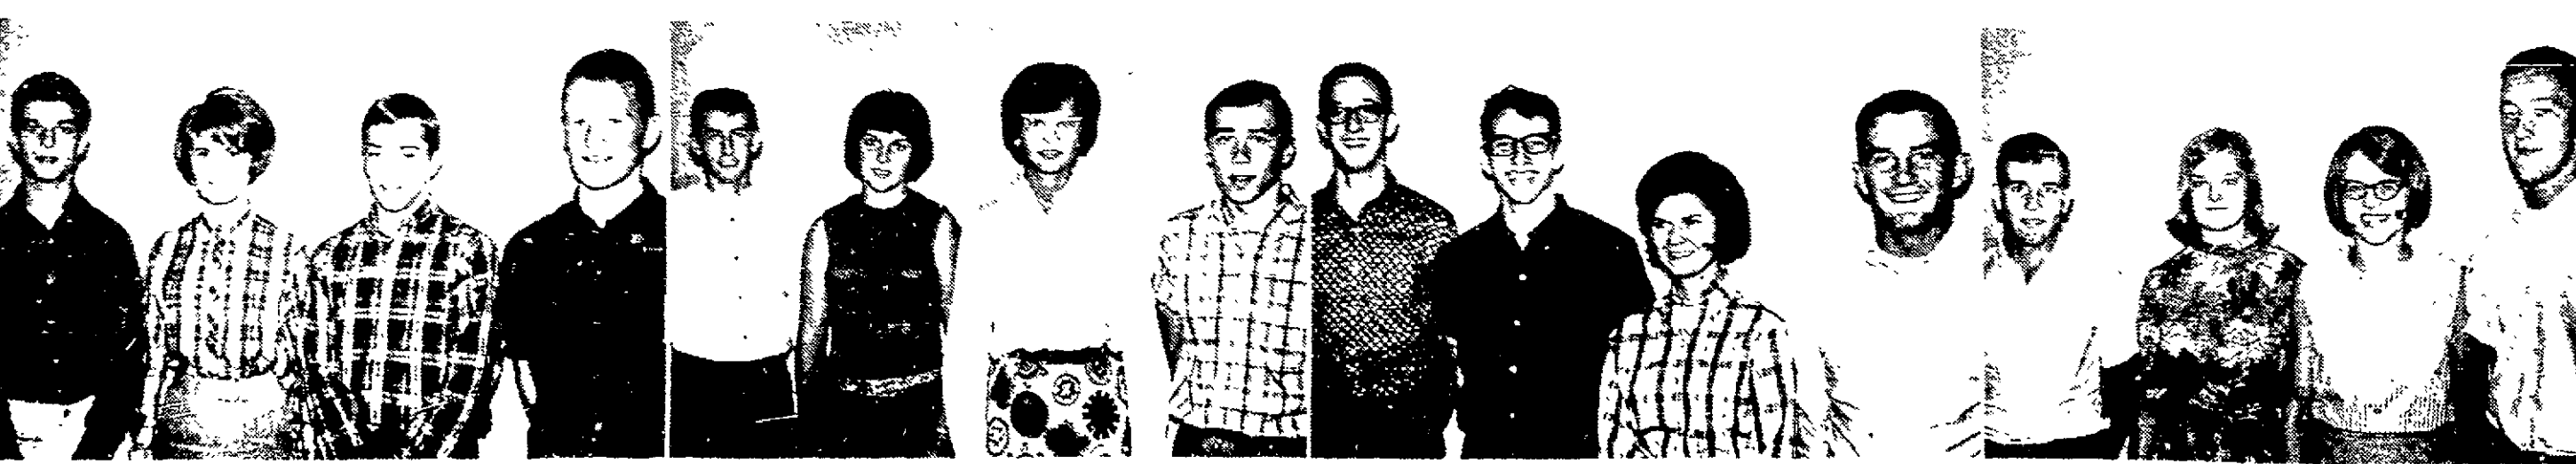

The forestry management subcommittee will be chaired by Meryl Castonquay, state forester from Rhinelander.

Jim Heinz, Neopit, has accepted the chairmanship of the parks and recreation subcommittee.

The only fully formed committee is the Roadside Beautification and Open Space Steering Committee, which will be headed this year by Christy Hauge, county forestry agent, Antigo.

Wednesday's meeting began with a welcome by Gordon A. Rabold, chairman of the Wolf Basin commission, who explained the new responsibilities of the committee. Reports were given by representatives from each of the county committees.

Named to a planning committee were Bauernfiend, Darling and Miss Stewart.

Practical Conservation Education

The conflict between state and federal conservation officials over the goose population at the Horicon Marsh was pleasantly contrasted this week in Appleton.

Representatives of agricultural and conservation agencies cooperated for the sixth consecutive year in presenting practical lessons on conservation to sixth grade pupils from public and parochial schools in Outagamie County.

The caliber of cooperation between public agencies and the schools deserves commendation. It serves as an example of what can be accomplished.

The children were introduced to many phases of practical conservation methods hitherto unknown to many of them. If the natural resources of the Fox River Valley are to be preserved in the future it will come chiefly from education programs such as this.

The value of a tree, for instance, is an essential lesson for the future preservation of the paper industry, key to the economy of the Fox River Valley.

Tomorrow's resources are protected by today's education.

Behind the Philippine Conference

New York Times columnist James Reston suggests still another reason for the suddenly called Asian "summit" conference which President Johnson will attend in Manila this month. It is to remedy some errors made at last winter's Honolulu conference and to get a lot of backing from our allies in the war for the President's peace proposals if they are ever picked up by North Viet Nam.

The Honolulu meeting was widely criticized because President Johnson seemed to give his full support to the government of Premier Ky at that time apparently as shaky as the several which had preceded it. The South Vietnamese elections for members of a constitutional assembly gave Premier Ky more support in his own country as his principal opponents, Communist and Buddhist, had recommended a boycott which did not take place. But in some ways Premier Ky has also been an embarrassment to the Johnson regime.

At one time Premier Ky called for an invasion of North Viet Nam by South Vietnamese or American troops. Another time he said such an invasion would be necessary unless the Americans wanted to fight for quite a few more years. During near revolts in some cities he proposed executing the mayors and sent his own troops. In almost all cases he subsequently withdrew his remarks, presumably after hasty and frantic conversations with American advisors. But it is simply impossible to picture Premier Ky accepting, for instance, a vote in South Viet Nam which would turn his country over to Ho Chi Minh. The United States has already pledged to accept the results of any such vote. The continued high desertion rate in the South Vietnamese military forces and the virtual taking over of all offensive actions by the American forces indicate that Premier Ky would have a difficult if not impossible task of trying to maintain his own control if negotiations include the withdrawal of American forces.

Reston flatly states that the Manila conference was "hatched" during Philippine President Marcos' recent visit to the White House. It is part of the effort on the part of President Johnson to make any settlement of the Vietnamese war appear to be an Asian settlement. In recent weeks President Johnson has increasingly spoken of the Asian responsibility. Certainly it does appear that, in addition to trying to stall off voters in the November congressional elections, the President is seeking Asian backing for his negotiation terms just in case the North Vietnamese accept them and there is an uproar among the present South Vietnamese leaders. And of course he wants the verbal support of the leaders of countries already our allies in some form for the war policies. There seems little doubt but that the American participation and pressure will be stepped up after the first of the year.

It is difficult to tell whether the efforts to find a solution in Viet Nam before the elections are more likely to be successful because of their variety or whether one effort alone would be better. We have Ambassador Goldberg offering to stop bombing and otherwise de-escalate if there is any sign that Hanoi will make appropriate moves. Then we have Secretary McNamara ordering 30 per cent more warplanes for next year. The bombing in North Viet Nam was stepped up at the same time with bombers coming from Guam as well as from Thai bases. Maybe this carrot and prod technique is the best, but it certainly has not achieved anything concrete in the past as far as Viet Nam is concerned.

President Johnson's background is that of a super politician. The Manila conference — and any other Asian visits which may accompany it — are aimed at the November elections in this country and also at political implications in Asia. But American political philosophies may not easily transplant to Asian soil.

Problems of Southern Justice

The Justice Department has attempted to get around the failure of some southern courts to decide fairly the guilt or innocence of those accused of attacks on civil rights workers by prosecuting for conspiracy to deny civil rights under the federal law. Defendants have been sentenced to relatively light terms in convictions in federal courts. But in one case the success of some civil rights movements actually worked against conviction.

Federal indictments of conspiracy against 17 white men accused in connection with the slaying of three civil rights workers in Mississippi were dismissed last week. The Justice Department agreed that the indictments were defective. The reason invoked by defense attorneys was the Rabinowitz case which declared that grand juries must represent a fair cross section of the community.

The grand jury convened in Mississippi in 1965 was obviously chosen in the old southern way which does not meet the standards set by the Appellate Court in the Rabinowitz case. Half the prospective jurors' names came from county officials from lists of males registered to vote. Very few Negroes were so registered in 1964 in Neshoba County. The other half came from recommendations of key men in the community who had been asked to suggest "reliable" jurors. Obviously this is hardly the way to get a cross section of the population of any area. Moreover the names of women were specifically not included.

The Justice Department does intend to take the case before a duly constituted grand jury. Certainly it is to the credit of the federal officials involved that they helped to get the old indictments dismissed since the whole system of southern justice is in doubt.

Sunday School Institute in Neenah

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Post for Sept. 20, 1866.

A Sunday School Institute was held in the Presbyterian Church of Neenah on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The Rev. Mr. Lowmyer, of Fort Atkinson, was chosen Moderator and C. L. Fay, of Appleton, was named Scribe.

D. L. Moody of Chicago, D. W. Perkins and the Rev. E. W. Pease, of Milwaukee, were present and took an active part in the exercises. The pastors of neighboring towns were also present as well as quite a number of teachers from different Sunday Schools.

The object of the Institute is the training of teachers, and to secure better qualifications in the Superintendents for their great work.

Questions such as object teaching and infant class exercise were given by the teachers in their own way. The mode of conducting Bible classes, model lessons, were freely discussed with great interest and profit. All some 50 questions were handled in on paper at different times, which elicited spirited and instructive answers.

The Institute, the first of which has been held in the northern part of the State, was a complete success.

Field Is Open for Young Czech Girls Who Like Farming

PRAGUE (AP) — Farmers have a slim chance of marrying the Czechoslovak paper Zemedecke Noviny wrote, because girls consider farm work interior and farmers undesirable mates.

The paper complained about the "ugly ideals" of the girls and worried about the state of mind of the farmers who can not find a harmonious family life. It said these men eventually lose confidence in people, in society and eventually in themselves.

Where now for TROUBLED NIGERIA

Nigeria is rich, but Nigeria is torn by tribal strife. The prime minister was murdered in January, his successor kidnapped in July, now feared dead. Yakubu Gowon, the new head of government, is striving to keep Africa's most populous nation from sundering into many separate tribes. As the nation prospers from oil, cocoa and peanuts, democracy is put to the test.

Nigeria, Africa's Brightest Hope, Now Torn by Bloody Tribal War

BY ARNOLD ZEITLIN
Associated Press Writer

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — At a time when Nigeria's developing economy is growing richer than ever, bloody tribal differences threaten to rip Africa's most populous country apart.

Nigeria often has been considered Africa's brightest hope for democracy principally because it maintained warm ties with the West and a lively, free economy (an American economist has commented that a Nigerian businessman is unhappy unless he achieves a 25 per cent annual return on an investment). But Nigeria had a shaky foundation long before it became independent of British rule Oct. 1, 1960. Since 1962 Nigeria has been in a turmoil fed by deep sectional and tribal differences. In 1966, Nigeria went through a coup in January, riots in May and June, and an army mutiny in July. Murdered in the January 15 coup was the prime minister since independence, modest, gentle Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa, a Moslem from the North. Kidnapped in the July 29 mutiny was Maj. Gen. Johnson T. U. Aguiyi-Ironsi, an Eastern Ibo who headed the military regime that succeeded the Balewa government. He is widely presumed dead. But his fate never has been disclosed, and he has become one of the world's most celebrated nonpersons.

TOP MAN AT 31

Lt. Col. Yakubu Gowon, a Northern Christian, who now heads the military government at age 31, is Nigeria's third head of government in nine months.

A splitting of Nigeria, whose 357,000 square-mile area is bigger than that of the 13 original American states, became a widely discussed possibility in the summer of 1966. By September 14, influential Nigerians and their advisors, representing four regions and the capital territory, met in Lagos to determine if Nigerians could live together in peace.

Nigeria's federation has been similar to three nations in one. Three major groups dominate the country. In the vast North, a Hausa-speaking people, most of whom are Moslems, live a region containing 20 per cent of all Nigeria and 25 million of its estimated 50 million people. In the Southwest, 13 million Yorubas live in their own region, the West. In the East, the predominant tribe is the Ibo with a population estimated at 8-10 million. In 1964, a Midwest region of minority tribes was carved from the West.

Cultural backgrounds have emphasized differences rather than similarities. Each group fears domination by one of the others. The North has been the keystone. Its people are the poorest and least educated of Nigerians. Its traditional government stems from a centuries-old system of emirates which the British maintained during the colonial era. Fearing more aggressive, better educated Southerners would swamp the North, its leaders first allied themselves with the East, then the West to control the balance of power in Nigeria.

COMPLEX MOSAIC

Other factors make the Nigerian mosaic more complex. Chief Obafemi Awolowo, the one major politician of the 1960 independence era still active, has remarked that there are ten major groups of people, ranging from the 13.6 million Hausa-Fulani to the half million Nupe. He also said in a recent speech there were 41 minor groups.

Politics became an art of trading on group differences. Despite growing political agitation and corruption, Nigeria's economy took on a life of its own. Oil, first produced commercially in the East in 1958, has given it a tremendous boost. This year Nigeria is expected to become one of the first ten producers of petroleum in the world. Oil exports assure Nigeria sufficient foreign exchange to carry on its development programs. Unlike other African countries, Nigeria's economy does not depend on one product. Peanuts, grown in the North, provided $147.6 million in foreign exchange in 1965. Cocoa, grown mostly in the West, earned $112 million in the same year, making Nigeria the world's second largest producer of cocoa. Tin and cotton are other major raw materials produced in Nigeria.

The January coup first was seen by many Nigerians as an opportunity to clean up the country's politics. It stumbled on tribalism. Maj. Gen. Aguiyi-Ironsi decreed the end of regional governments and the establishment of one central government in May. He also consolidated the civil services of all the regions into one. Ironsi was an Eastern Ibo, and Northerners saw his moves as an attempt to take over the North, replacing Northern civil servants with Ibos. Riots broke out a few weeks after the decree. Northern elements in the army grew restive over promotions of Ibo officers. In July, Northern troops staged a mutiny, and Gowon assumed command as head of the military regime.

He has worked to conciliate the diverse groups. His government rescinded Ironsi's decree and returned the country to a federal form of government. He has released political prisoners and moved troops to lessen tensions. He gives the impression he wants to return to army duty as soon as possible. To delegates at September's constitutional meeting, Gowon said it was their job to answer the question, "Where do we go from here?"

Gallup Poll May Not Be True Indicator

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Your editorial of today again in effect, denouncing the President and citing the "Gallup Poll" which indicates a further decline in President Kennedy's popularity and a surge in Sen. Kennedy's seems to leave no other judgments of the President's popularity.

I never specifically in last week's primary elections, in which candidates favoring U.S. Viet Nam policy won in practically every case, including Massachusetts, where McGovern defeated O'Donnell, the latter Kennedy's man.

Kennedy's popularity, as such, is based on the respect and reverence people feel for his late brother, and as such is rather tenuous. It seems to me, since it isn't directly based on Bobby's own accomplishments or personality or what have you, Bob Kennedy, that has made some statements recently calculated to make him more popular with people who he believes to be disenchanted with certain facts of life which the President can't do too much about. But as the late President Kennedy is supposed to have said, "I am surprised how different things look from inside the White House than they did from outside the White House." Possibly that is the reason people voted as they did last week. They may say one thing to "pollsters," but they will vote from a sense of the realities of the day, and support candidates who they feel have the best grasp of those realities.

State's Fair Housing Law Producing Some Progress, Fagan Feels

John Wyngaard, Madison correspondent, is on vacation and has arranged for a series of guest columns to be published during his absence. Contributors will include prominent figures in Wisconsin governmental and political affairs.

BY JOSEPH C. FAGAN

MADISON — Just over 10 months ago, on Dec. 19, 1965, Gov. Knowles signed Wisconsin's first anti-discrimination law affecting housing. This new law was the outcome of legislation sponsored by thirteen assemblymen, both Republican and Democrat.

Looking over this time span, we can make some assessments of the law's effects: what it has accomplished and perhaps what it has failed to accomplish.

Most of the Industrial Commission's emphasis in our administration of the law has been on education rather than enforcement. We are working on the theory that it is better to reason than to prosecute, better to conciliate than to condemn.

We are convinced that discrimination in housing, or any other, can best be headed off at the local level. So we are busy working with community groups, both public and private, to assist them in providing for a positive atmosphere and an affirmative approach to the problems that the community has now or may have soon.

Activity under the specific provisions of the law itself has been relatively small. Only 10 formal complaints have been filed — a fact which might lead us to favor one of two conclusions: that either the law has proved quite effective; or that there was little discrimination in housing in the first place.

FEW COMPLAINTS

In my opinion the small number of complaints reflects a combination of both reasons.

I do not believe that the large majority of Wisconsin citizens would discriminate with or without a law. But the law has had a deterrent effect on those few — always present in any society who are inclined to judge people on group stereotype rather than on individual merit — or lack thereof.

There was some concern that a rash of nuisance complaints would follow this law, that landlords and other people handling property would be harassed by militant civil rights groups and individuals. I am happy to report that this fear has not materialized.

Those people who have been complained to us have been sincere — though sometimes mistaken — in their belief that they were denied a property because of their race or color.

The small number of actual complaints, plus contact with real estate people, builders, and other in property management have revealed no cases of outright harassment. And, of course, the law itself provided a pretty stiff penalty for testing.

OPPOSITION

Certainly, the housing law had and still has its controversial features. There are still many who oppose its intent. But now that it is the law of Wisconsin most of those prominent in opposition are cooperating to make it work effectively.

This Wisconsin way is in sharp contrast to many other states where such laws have a continuing source of conflict and bitterness. I am confident this Wisconsin spirit will prevail in all matters of civil rights.

The Housing Law has so far made only a few chips and dents in the ghetto walls that surround many minority group people.

But it has opened another avenue, which together with increasing educational and employment opportunities, may some day cause future generations living harmoniously together to wonder what the fuss was all about.

Poor Sportsmanship Harmful to Racing

This has been our first year that we have followed the Fox Valley Racing Club, and we found the racing most exciting and the competition very keen.

Although racing is very big in the Valley, I feel quite sure that the way this year ended could be very harmful to it. The sportsmanship has been terrible and not being familiar with all the rules, I feel, if the club bars someone, they should bow out gracefully and not make a spectacle of themselves. After all, everyone wants a legal car to win, whether it is owned by a pauper or a king, before they want a cheater to win. Surely, if the drivers that can't afford to keep their cars up, proved themselves good enough, they could find a sponsor that would be happy to back them.

Parnelli Jones or any of the big drivers could not go on with their careers if they didn't have someone sponsoring them.

Aside from the rules they now have, there should be a new one added. We take our young children to the races and we are aware that in a crowd you will find people that don't have a high standard of living, but when your child's idol comes up from the pits and uses such profane language along with his wife and friends, it spoils the image of all the drivers and really degrades the sport. We feel that these drivers should be removed from the premises as they do in baseball and football. We try raising our children in the right way of life, but this sort of behavior certainly doesn't make parents' job any easier.

If anything kills the races, it won't be the money or the boredom of seeing them, it will be the atmosphere that a few of the drivers have created at the track.

If any of the drivers are barred, the handful of fans that will quit coming won't make that much difference. We, the fans want to see a clean fair race as do most fans in any sport. We should all realize no matter who it may be, if they are eliminated, it is not only for our good, but for the other drivers, and stock car racing in general.

Haiphong areas and the southern panhandle.

The U.S. command, in a delayed report, announced one American plane was shot down Thursday night during raids over North Viet Nam, the 338th such loss of the war. The plane was a two-place Air Force F4C Phantom. One crew member was rescued and the other reported missing.

Navy Strikes

In Friday's raids, carrier-based Navy pilots reported a lucrative day in strikes on cargo barges along the coast from Vinh to Thanh Hoa.

In South Viet Nam just below the demilitarized zone, U.S. Marines of the 4th Regiment reported killing 10 North Vietnamese Friday in a 45-minute fight 19 miles northwest of Dong Ha. This was the only contact in the two-month-old Operation Prairie in which the Marines have been tracking down the rebuilt 324th North Vietnamese Division. Since Aug. 3, the Marines reported killing 943 North Vietnamese, the equivalent of nearly two battalions.

Farther south, a unit of the U.S. 1st Airborne Cavalry Division reported killing 17 Communist troops in two separate engagements Friday.

the House on a vote that largely — but not entirely — followed party lines.

Democrats urged the action as part of Johnson's anti-inflation program which also includes an announced $3 billion cut in spending under budget figures and a hold up in certain forms of government agency borrowing.

Republicans expressed skepticism about the promised spending cuts and said Johnson should have acted earlier and more drastically to cut back or postpone Great Society programs and balance the budget.

The House adopted one amendment. It would allow equipment for abatement of air and water pollution to continue to enjoy the 7 per cent tax credit.

Poynette Man Shoots Wife, Then Himself

POYNETTE (AP) — A rural Poynette man shot and killed his wife Friday night after a family quarrel and then killed himself, according to Columbia County Coroner Kenneth Reuhl.

The victims were identified as Curtis Royal Longseth, 53, of Rt. 2, and his wife, Ruby Emma, 34, who were tenants on a farm west of here.

Capt. Robert Hamle, of the Columbia County Sheriff's office, said that Longseth apparently shot his wife in the head with a .22 single shot rifle and then telephoned a friend and then turned the gun on himself. Hamle said that an 18-month-old child, one of the couple's five children, was found in the living room where the shooting occurred.

According to authorities, the children had recently been placed under the care of the State Department of Public Welfare.

Strike Averted Against Airline

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has averted for at least 60 days a strike by 12,000 members of the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union against Pan American World Airways.

Johnson signed an executive order Friday creating a three-member board to investigate the dispute and report its findings within 60 days, but did not immediately name the members.

The union will be barred from striking for another 60-day period after Johnson receives the report while negotiations continue to seek a settlement.

The strike was threatened for 10:01 a.m. Sunday. A Pan Am official in New York said the dispute involved wages, premium pay and health and welfare benefits.

Hurricane Inez Rips Into Communist Cuba

ward the west-northwest at 12 miles an hour.

If continued, this course would bring the storm back ashore in western Cuba late today or tonight.

Small craft owners in the low-lying Florida Keys were warned to remain in port.

"If she regains her strength and moves back over Cuba," said forecaster Paul Moore, "she could reach the Florida Straits by tonight."

Unpredictable Water

The straits, separating Cuba from Florida, is the unpredictable body of water used as an escape route by refugees fleeing the Castro communism in small boats.

Inez had been twice weakened—in titanic collisions with the mountains of Hispaniola and again with the towering peaks of Oriente Province — but back over the water she gained new fury rapidly.

Hundreds were injured, thousands homeless, and vast crop acreages laid waste in the storm's raging journey through the Caribbean from the French island of Guadeloupe to Cuba.

It was feared that many bodies lie in Haiti, where Inez hurled the full force of her wind and rain down a heavily populated valley enclosed by tall mountains.

Tolls Mounting

Death and damage tolls climbed continuously as rescue teams reached stricken areas.

Only one death was officially reported in Cuba, where Castro took personal charge of the evacuation of 123,000 persons from low-lying areas of the southeastern coast. Roaring tides had come ashore there.

See Victory In U.N. Over South Africa

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — African diplomats predicted today that their resolution to have the United Nations take over South-West Africa from South Africa would pass the General Assembly by a vote of at least 70-2.

They anticipated that only Portugal and South Africa would vote against it, and that the Communist countries, and nearly all Africa and Asia would vote in favor of it. The rest of the 119 members would either abstain from voting or else stay away, the diplomats predicted.

The Communist vote was nailed down Friday when Mongolia came out as a sponsor of the resolution and the Soviet Union, after some earlier grumbling, announced support for it.

The assembly has been debating the question almost every day for the last two weeks. Unless a compromise proposal is put in, the debate will end next Friday or the following Monday or Tuesday and the vote will take place then.

Rights Group 'Protects' Chief In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Members of a civil rights group posted themselves outside the home of the Milwaukee chief of police Friday night to protect what they say has been police harassment at their headquarters.

Members of the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said they were "protecting" the home of the chief, Harold A. Brewer.

The council has been critical of police patrols of the council's Freedom House. Its spokesmen have maintained that council headquarters is under steady police surveillance, and that police have harassed council members.

Four boys and three girls accompanied by the Rev. James Groppi, council adviser, parked outside the chief's home on Milwaukee's south side shortly after 11 p.m.

Father Groppi, a Roman Catholic priest, left with the girl's a short time later, but four boys stayed on.

A council spokesman said the boys would be relieved by another shift. The watch was to last until Saturday morning.

A dozen police also stood by outside the home.

Cuba is slow to report its storm deaths. After Hurricane Flora killed more than 2,000 residents in 1963, Castro waited several days to disclose it in a speech to his people.

In 12 hours over the mountains of Oriente, the top winds slamming around the center of Inez dropped to 75 miles an hour. But they built back up quickly to 100 over the Caribbean. At one time, Inez packed a 175-mile an hour punch.

Guantanamo Hit

Top winds of 138 miles an hour lashed the town of Guantanamo Friday, destroying a number of homes. Heavy damage also was reported at the nearby U.S. Navy base although none of the base's 9,000 residents was reported seriously injured.

Havana radio said Inez' devastating winds flattened Oriente Province's precious sugar crop but did not necessarily ruin the crop. Earlier, her winds and torrential rains wiped out the cotton crop on the Barahona peninsula of the Dominican Republic.

Civil defense authorities in the Dominican Republic placed the toll at 67 dead and 225 missing, with more than 1,000 homes destroyed. Unofficial sources listed more than 100 dead, 500 injured and some 5,000 left homeless.

than major departures from past policy.

The government's platform is expected to be broken down into six areas—education, economy, natural resources, human affairs, governmental organization and urban and rural matters.

Likely to be included is a long list of detailed suggestions, including highway safety recommendations for compulsory automobile inspections, compulsory driver training, periodic retesting for drivers, and an implied consent law to test motorists accused of drunken driving.

In many cases, knowles has backed the same proposals previously in requests sent to the 1965 and 1966 Legislature.

Aides to Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, the Democratic nominee for governor, said no changes were anticipated in the platform adopted by their party's state convention June 11.

Improper Subject

However, it was considered highly unlikely there will be any mention of one convention resolution urging negotiations with the Viet Cong to achieve an immediate cease fire in the war in Viet Nam.

A member of Lucey's staff said Viet Nam was hardly a subject to be tossed into a platform on state government.

Tammy Grimes Show' Season's First Casualty

Dumped After Only Four Showings; 'Dating Game' Picked as Replacement

BY JINGO The first casualty of the new television season has occurred barely four weeks into the annual festivities. "Tammy Grimes Show" was cut by ABC in favor of a released Friday. The big, evening edition of "The Dating Game," starting next week.

Jingo The complete top 20: 1 - "Bonanza"; 2 - "Jackie Gleason"; 3 - "Red Skelton"; 4 - "Ed Sullivan"; 5 - "Rat Patrol"; 6 - "Beverly Hills Cop"; 7 - "Peyton Place"; 8 - "CBS Thursday Night Movies"; 9 - "Good Neighbor Sam"; 10 - "Green Acres"; 11 - "NBC Tuesday Night at the Movies"; 12 - "My Six Loves"; 13 - "CBS Friday Night Movies"; 14 - "Andy Griffith"; 15 - "NBC Saturday Night at the Movies"; 16 - "The Last Sunset"; 17 - "Lawrence Welk"; 18 - "Lucy Show"; 19 - "Gomer Pyle"; 20 - "Fanny Hill".

The series was a very tired, feeble vehicle for Miss Grimes. There were reports even before the season began that ABC was not pleased with the series and that it appeared in its lineup because the primary sponsor was high on it. The sponsor, however, has agreed to switch its allegiance to the game show.

NBC gave two game shows, yet just almost three months to build two audiences before it gave them up. "Chain Letter," with Jan Murray, and "Showdown," with Joe Pyne, will quietly disappear Monday will be replaced by "The Pat Boone Show," a musical program with the singing star, and a game show called "Hollywood Squares."

As in the first week's ratings, though the shows were different in many cases, the breakdown of networks was the same. CBS had 11 entries, ABC five and NBC four. The only network with a hit, "Password," long at the top of the daytime popularity list, along with the perennially popular "The Dick Van Dyke Show."

Davis Shows Fangs on 'Gunsmoke'

BY TV SCOUT 9-10 (Channels 2-7-12) - Bettie Davis, resigned to monotony in movies these days, in many cases, the breakdown of networks was the same. CBS had 11 entries, ABC five and NBC four.

6:30-7 (Channels 4-5) - As Flipper begins its second, and final chapter of "Disaster in the Everglades." Brian Kelly is slipping deeper and deeper in a mud bog. Our lively dolphin hero goes to his rescue and in turn is trapped, too.

6:30-7:30 (Channels 11-6-9) - "An Echo of Anger" offers little new in defining the character of Shane. Once again he is accused of doing something he didn't do. This time, some rough Texans invade his pastoral plains and accuse him of shooting a man in the back in Abilene. Before it's over, it's high noon, shoot 'em up time.

6:30-7:30 (Channels 2-7-12) - The Jackie Gleason Show has another Honey Mooner episode.

8-10:15 (Channels 4-5) - "Rear Window," one of Alfred Hitchcock's dandiest thrillers, is the offering on Saturday Night at the Movies. In this 1954 Paramount release, James Stewart plays a news photographer, confined to a wheelchair with a broken leg, who views through his window the plans for a murder. He has a tough time convincing anybody what is about to happen, especially sweetheart Grace Kelly and nurse Thelma Ritter, before a bizarre and wild finale. Also active are Wendell Corey, as a closed-mouth detective, and Raymond Burr as the heavy.

8:30-9:30 (Channels 11-6-9) - The Hollywood Palace is in a bewitching mood with Elizabeth Montgomery as its hostess. Naturally, she sings "Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered," singing via Damone in some special format built around her own show, "Bewitched." Miss Montgomery also has some fun with Paul Lynde. Also on hand are the style is the Rara Marmata Band. Guess acts fresh on the rest of the hour and on the street scene.

Cleveland Symphony To Be Heard Sunday Nights on WAPL-FM

Radio Station WAPL-FM announced today that its winter symphony concert series will feature music of the Cleveland Symphony orchestra. The series will be broadcast at 3 p.m. each Sunday evening at 105.7 on the FM radio dial.

This year's symphony program on WAPL-FM represents a departure from that of the last several years, when the two-hour long program of the New York Philharmonic was offered Sunday afternoons. The changes were instituted in response to listener requests.

The Cleveland conductor is George Szell and the associate conductors are Robert Shaw and Louis Lane. Shaw appeared with the orchestra for a concert at Lawrence University Memorial Chapel last spring.

The opening concert, Sunday, with George Szell conducting, consists of Baird's "Four Essays for Orchestra"; the Mozart Symphony No. 23 in C and Tchaikovsky's "Symphony No. 4 in F, Opus 36."

Restraining Order Issued by Judge To Stop Sewers in Sanitary District

Hearing Set Thursday on Town Application for Injunction

MENASHA — A restraining order was in effect this morning to prevent the city from continuing installation of sewer mains in annexed territory in Town of Menasha Sanitary District No. 4.

The order was issued Friday by Winnebago County Circuit Judge Arnold J. Carey after town officials posted a $50,000 bond. Sanitary district No. 4 is a park certificate were pending by the town, to insure protection of the city against damages resulting from the delay or work should court litigation over the matter find the city without fault.

A hearing is scheduled before Judge Carey next Thursday at 1:30 p.m. on a town application for an injunction which would continue the effect of the temporary restraining order until the litigation has been completed.

Hearing Scheduled

The town is attempting to prevent the city from installing sewer and water mains in the Lewandowski plat on the city's northeast side. A Public Service Commission hearing is to be held Oct. 10 on the same matter.

The town had asked the PSC to rule whether the city could install both sewer and water in the area. Town Atty. Everett Steacker later began the court action on the sewer matter on the basis of PSC jurisdiction being limited to water service. The town and sanitary district claim the land, although annexed to the city and no longer under jurisdiction of the town remains in the sanitary district and should receive sewer and water service from the district rather than from the city and the water and light utility.

The city has continued its sewer work without interruption since the application for PSC intervention was requested in the town. The work has been progressing at the rate of several hundred feet per day.

Oklahoma Postal Official Receives Unusual Package

NEENAH — A bewildered postmaster at Oklahoma City, Okla. has in his possession a five gallon can containing eels, crabs and bullfrogs and doesn't know what to do with it.

Postmaster John Dachel received a note from the Oklahoma postal official this morning asking his help in locating the sender.

The can has reached Oklahoma without a label so it wasn't known to whom it went or to rule whether the city could install both sewer and water in the area. Town Atty. Everett Steacker later began the court action on the sewer matter on

1,000 Tractor Farm Caravan Plan Complete

Funds to Purchase Wisconsin Cheese For Viet Nam GIs

WAUSAU — A 1,000 tractor caravan to collect funds for cheese to be sent to servicemen in Viet Nam will start near the Wisconsin-Michigan border Oct. 19 and terminate in the Stevens Point area Oct. 26.

Plans for the caravan, which will cover the 11 counties of the seventh congressional district, were made here Thursday at a meeting of representatives from each of the counties.

Alfred Mellen, Weyauvegan, representing Waupaca County, was named caravan chairman. Mellen said "all farmers of the district will be invited to join the caravan and show the boys in Viet Nam that we are thinking about them."

"We want to send them a little something from home, and what better product could we send them," he added.

The exact route of the caravan has not been determined at this time or the exact starting location.

Farmers throughout the state will be invited, during the annual National Farmers Organization meeting today at Wausau, to participate in the caravan. Mellen said.

Neenah Woman Injured When Car Jumps Tracks

NEENAH — A Neenah woman was treated for a forehead laceration and minor bruises this morning after her car lurched from the Chicago & North Western Railroad depot parking lot and jolted across three sets of railroad tracks.

Mrs. Norma E. Lawson, 409 Winneconne Ave., was taken to Theda Clark Memorial Hospital by a policeman after the mishap. She was released after treatment. Her 1959 convertible received damages to the entire front end and undercarriage, officers said.

According to police, Mrs. Lawson had parked in the lot but had left the auto transmission engaged. She accidentally stepped on the gas pedal and the car bolted onto the tracks.

Pastor to Speak

NEENAH — The Rev. John Hanchett of the First Congregational Church, Menasha, will discuss the problems of the adolescent and his need for understanding from adults of the community at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Horace Mann Junior High School.

Christmas Vacation Two Days Shorter

Menasha Unit Changes Schedule To Allow Two Convention Dates

MENASHA — Public school school board voted to make up pupils will have a shorter for the last two days in October Christmas vacation than originally scheduled classes to resume all planned as a result of Thursday, January 5, 1967, conflicting convention dates of rival teachers' groups.

During this morning's meeting the board reviewed the sequence of events leading up to the conflicting convention dates. It was recalled the board approved the 1966-67 school calendar in January, providing for convention recess in November, assuming the two teacher groups would meet on the same dates as in the past.

Teacher contracts signed under provisions including the work schedule were handed in by April 15. The board was notified later by the WFT state officials that the group would meet in October.

Menasha teachers are represented by Local 1165 of the WFT. However, many local teachers still maintain ties with the WEA professional organization, and are presumed to be interested in that group's convention.

Barn Dance Will Benefit Appleton Farmer

A benefit barn dance is planned by neighbors and square dance enthusiasts from throughout the Fox Valley at the Ervin Kohl farm, route 2, Appleton, Saturday night.

The Kohl barn and machines were destroyed in the fire but livestock was saved. The heat was so intense that it penetrated the siding on the house.

The barn has been rebuilt and new siding installed on the house. William Glasheen, Kimberly, will be the caller. A group of musicians has been engaged. Dancing will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Story Hour for Pre-School Group

KAUKAUNA — The annual pre-school story hour for four and five-year-olds who will be entering kindergarten in fall of 1967 will get underway at 2 p.m. Oct. 20, according to Mrs. Myron Black, children's librarian.

Sessions will be held each Thursday afternoon in the children's department until sometime in April. If enrollment is too large, the group will be divided and sessions held on alternate Thursdays for each group.

Mothers of children will not attend the story hour but are expected to stay in the building during the program. Parents interested in registering children are to meet in the children's department at 7 p.m. Thursday.

No phone registrations will be accepted. Enrollment is limited due to space shortage but every effort will be made to accommodate as many children as possible, the librarian said.

2 Neenah Men Enter Innocent Pleas

OSHKOSH — John William Russell, 23, and Richard Carl Pfeiffer, 21, both of 130 W. Wisconsin Ave., Neenah, pleaded innocent in Winnebago County Court Branch 3 Friday to charges of attempted burglary.

The two men have been charged with the attempted burglary of the Tiger Lyrn Bar in the Town of Menasha on Sept. 1. Russell is also charged with an attempted burglary of Chef's Bar, on the same day in the Town of Menasha.

Judge James V. Sitter transferred all three cases to circuit court after the attorney for the two men requested a 12-man jury trial.

Both men are being held in lieu of $2,000.

MENASHA — About 20 Fox Valley business and professional leaders will attend a seminar on World Affairs at UW-M. and Mrs. Ralph Werberg, Institute "Making Foreign Policy in a Nuclear Age" today and Saturday at the University of Wisconsin - Fox Valley Center.

The seminar, sponsored jointly by the Fox Valley Center, the Institute of World Affairs of the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee and the Foreign Policy Association, Inc., is the first of its topic to be held anywhere in the country.

Community leaders attending the seminar will discuss the foreign policy-making process and assess its strength and weaknesses. The seminar participants will discuss what influences are important in the decision-making process, the role of the informed citizen and the press and prospects for the future of American foreign policy.

Factual background and issues for the seminar discussions will be provided in study materials prepared by the Foreign Policy Association. The association is a national, non-profit and nonpartisan educational organization.

Six out of town guests will attend the seminar, including Dr. R. John Eyre, Midwest field director of the Foreign Policy Association. Dr. Eyre, of Boulder, Colo., will be seminar moderator.

Other guests will be Dr. C. Dale Fuller of New York, executive vice president of the Foreign Policy Association; Dr. Roger Hamburg, assistant professor of political science at the University of Wisconsin-Madison; Dr. Carol E. Baumann.

Rural Menasha Man Requests Jury Trial

OSHKOSH — Proceedings against Gordon Kain, 27, route 2, Menasha, were transferred to Winnebago County Circuit Court Friday after his attorney requested a 12-man jury trial.

Kain is charged with theft and grand theft. The latter charge stems from an alleged break-in and theft of $228 from a Menasha service station on July 11. The former charge comes from the alleged taking of $120 from a Neenah Station on Mar. 25.

Kain was released by Judge James V. Sitter without bond.

Man Injured After Fall From Bicycle

NEENAH — Shirley Rogge, 137 Douglas St. was taken to Theda Clark Memorial Hospital after a fire department ambulance after he reportedly fell from his bicycle at S Harrison Street and Winneconne Avenue about 6 p.m. Friday. He was treated and released. He complained of chest pains.

Neenah Annual School Report Shows 339 Additional Pupils

NEENAH — There were 339 more children attending school than the Neenah public school system during the 1965-66 school year than the year before, according to figures from the annual report from Superintendent Scott to the department of public instruction.

The superintendent's report shows total disbursements of $5,603,695 for the past year and $5,000,000 for the 1964-65 school year. Total disbursements for the 1965-66 school year and the 1964-65 school year were $5,603,695 and $5,000,000, respectively.

State aids increased during the year from $255,500 to $331,500. There was also an increase in county elementary school aid of $1,500, a total of $30,200. Federal aids were more than doubled and a total of $6,666 was received.

Textbook sales and rentals brought in $225 into the school till and rental of school facilities accounted for another $15,000. Students fees and fines totaled $13,320.

An additional 85 students were transported during the year. The report shows that 1,664 students were transported at district as of June 30 was the total cost of $94,571.

Beer Flows During K-C Work Break

BY PETER GENIESSE Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH — Friday wasn't a normal day at the Lakeside Bar.

Beer trucks lined the parking lot and hundreds of workers crowded around the bar, downing the suds and jovially talking about what they were going to do during the unscheduled vacation.

It's just like Christmas time," the bartender happily exclaimed as he rang up cash register or another 15-cent sale.

The weather outside was a bit merry with a strong wind blowing down N. Lake Street as the first crew of picketers started to parade in front of the Kimberly-Clark Corp.'s Lakeview Mill.

But Christmas wasn't exactly in the air.

The barroom at Lakeside was tilted at 10 a.m. with K-C workers anxiously awaiting the outcome of the last-ditch negotiations behind closed doors in the conference room at the company's main office.

Joseph Conley, of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, shuffled between caucuses of company and union officials and most of the morning hearing and relaxing the altered demands of both parties.

At 11:45 a.m., about a dozen men silently filed out of the conference room, climbed the stairs and went out into the parking lot. Another session was scheduled for 2 p.m., but that would be two hours too late to avert the walkout of 1,446 workers from the Lakeview and Badger Globe Mills.

Machines Shut Down

The paper machines already were in the process of shutting down. Two house trailers had been set up as union headquarters behind the Lakeside Bar. And six picketers, with their placards at half mast, milled in front of the Lakeview Mill, synchronizing their watches.

At the stroke of noon, hundreds of workers poured out of the plant doors onto the street, the picketers raised their signs and the first strike in recent years at K-C had begun.

"The foreman asked me to stick around a few extra minutes to help close down the machine," one striker noted "but you know where I told him to go."

The reaction of the workers to the walkout was mixed in much of the same proportion as the vote taken by the two locals more than two weeks ago. Both unions voted overwhelmingly to strike if the terms weren't met.

With lunch buckets in hand, the strikers gathered in small groups in front of the plant for a few minutes before strolling down the street to sign up for picket duty.

Other Employment

Several remarked they were willing to stay out on strike until their demands were reached. However, at least one worker said he wouldn't stick around a week before turning to another firm. He said if no settlement was reached in two weeks, many of the skilled craftsmen would seek other employment.

About 100 workers lined up in front of the house trailers at the rear of the Lakeside Bar, waiting to get the word to picket. "I've got to get in there as early as I can," one picketer said. "I won't be picketing tomorrow when bird season opens. I'm a sportsman."

The noise and laughter in the barroom increased when workers entered saying they'd received the "grave yard shifts."

The bartender wouldn't predict what his business would be next week when the strikers' take home pay will be cut drastically.

A single worker received $20 a week and a married man gets $30 plus $2 for each child. "That's hardly enough to pay the house payments," one striker added.

2 Youths Admit To Vandalism At City Park

Extensive Damage Done to Pavilion; Repairs Run High

Two 17-year-old Appleton youths have admitted their part in three incidents of vandalism at City Park during the past month.

Appleton police said today they will question a 14-year-old in connection with the vandalism.

The youths told police they were not responsible for damage that occurred last month at Pierce Park or at the Erb or Meade Park pools.

Considerable paint damage was done at City Park, the most extensive having been the spraying of both the interior and exterior of the pavilion. The youths told police they used spray cans of various colored paint, on Sept. 3, 14 and 20.

Large letters, numbers and names were painted on and inside the building.

Difficult to Clean Appleton police referred the youths to juvenile authorities for further action. Park officials estimated the cost of repairing the damage might run high at City Park because the paint was sprayed onto imitation stone siding which they said is difficult to clean.

Investigation is continuing into vandalism at the other three parks. Light poles were snapped off at Meade Park, and at Erb Park, the bath house was painted with various letters, numbers and obscene phrases.

At Pierce Park, vandals damaged washrooms, smashed a telephone and attempted to start a fire in the pavilion.

Appleton Boy Pleads Guilty Of Burglaries

Welfare Department Make Examination Prior to Sentencing

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered Friday afternoon for Mathias F. Rossmessl Jr., 17, W. Eighth St., after he pleaded guilty to eight counts of burglary.

The pre-sentence investigation by the State Department of Public Welfare was ordered by Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller, who continued the case for sentencing to Oct. 14.

Rossmessl, arrested following investigation by Appleton police, was freed on $1,000 bond. The youth's attorney requested the court reduce the bond from $2,500 to allow the boy to return to school. He had been in jail since earlier in the week after failing to post bond.

Rossmessl Friday afternoon waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the felony branch of County Court. He had been waived from juvenile court jurisdiction.

The eight burglaries occurred from May 29 through Aug. 15 at the homes of Lawrence R. Lutz, 504 W. Atlantic St.; Arthur Jones, 704 S. Pierce Ave.; Mrs. Marie Hoelzel, 601 W. Lawrence St.; LeRoy Stierman, 720 W. Fourth St.; Thomas Kamps, 719 W. Spencer St.; and Kenneth Halverson, 722 W. Prospect St.

The other two burglaries were at Hide-A-Way Bar, 1400 W. Wisconsin Ave., and Riverview Country Club, 1201 S. Oneida St.

Race Travels Down Wolf, Fox to View Stream Banks

Public Works Bill Possible Source Of Funds, Representative Says

FREMONT — New sources of funds for streambank management along the Wolf and Fox Rivers will be explored with the federal government's public works bill high on the list of possibilities, Sixth District Rep. John A. Race, D-Fond du Lac, said Friday.

Race and members of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) took a 40-mile riverboat trip down the Lower Wolf and Fox Rivers, from Fremont to Eureka, to view recent attempts to protect streambanks.

Funds for streambank protection along the rivers have been "skimmed off the top" of Wisconsin's $5.5 million agricultural conservation allocation, Leiland E. Mulder, chairman of the state ASCS committee, said Friday. The projects, now numbering seven completed and seven proposed in Winnebago County alone, are available only to farmers working their land or using it for protection of wildlife along the river.

ASCS Payment The ASCS has been paying 80 per cent to the landowners' 20 per cent during the two years since the streambank special projects started. Officials expressed a feeling that other agencies should pick up some of the tab to lessen the load on the agricultural conservation allocation.

Need for streambank protection was pointed out by Walter Weideman, Winnebago County ASCS chairman. Thousands of acres have been lost to the rivers during the past several years, he said.

Waves stirred up by the high number of pleasure boats during the summer months were blamed for most of the river banks erosion.

In some places along the rivers, Mulder pointed out, the shoreline with such force that large trees are toppling inland, with roots next to the water. Normal time erosion would cause the trees to fall into the river, he said.

Completed in 2 Years All of the special projects seen Friday by Race have been completed within the past two years. The ASCS has found a process called "rip" the most efficient means of keeping the rivers inside their proper boundaries. Rip-rapping is hauling truckloads of limestone to the bank and depositing the rocks in the most strategic spots.

The limestone settles, providing a solid waterproof wall between the water and adjacent marshland or cultivated fields. In some places, officials said, boat wakes have washed river banks away at a rate of five feet a year.

Broad expanses of shallow water, a mile or more wide in some places, have covered lands that were once ideal for wildlife. Weideman said. As the rivers widen, navigation channels, as well as farmer's land are lost.

Dual Problem Members of the ASCS said they were faced with a dual problem in streambank protection projects. First, the special project funds are insufficient to improve banks that need immediate attention.

Second, some farmers are unwilling to put up the 20 per cent matching fund necessary to get federal assistance for the rip-rapping.

Race said "Projects like these improve rivers and lakes for sportsmen and recreation purposes, but it's a shame the farmers have to pay the bill." Before the ASCS streambank projects began two years ago, very little had been done to prevent Wolf River banks from washing away. Some private landowners have shored up the banks but, in general, there have not been any long range projects completed, according to ASCS officials.

Special Funds Special projects funds for 1965 totaled approximately $100,000 in 1965. $200,000 this year, for Winnebago, Outagamie and Waupaca counties. A streambank project near Eureka cost $2,500, excluding the farmer's share, for about 1-3 mile of rip-rapping, Weideman said. Other projects have cost as much as $3,200.

"We have a public works bill every year. Much of that is spent on flood control and projects of that sort," Race said. "It might be possible to introduce legislation to use public works money to protect this land and take some of the burden off the farmer," he added. "I don't think Wisconsin is getting its fair share anyway."

Association to Fete Principal, New Pastor

KAUKAUNA — A reception for the Rev. Andrew Linsmeier, new pastor, and Sister Claudia, new principal, will be held after a meeting of the Home-School Association of Holy Cross Catholic parish at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in the school cafeteria.

Sister Claudia will introduce faculty members. The event is open to all members of the parish. Mothers of seventh and eighth grade pupils, under the direction of Mrs. Clifford Weideman, are in charge of the social.

The association is conducting a bridge marathon for women and for couples with Mrs. Robert Nack and Mrs. Lloyd Vercauteren as co-chairmen.

Private Firm Plans Lot For Public Parking Use

KAUKAUNA — Members of the council have been trying, with little success, to secure property on the south side of the city for many years to develop a public parking area but it now appears private enterprise will help solve some of the parking problems.

Fox Cities Realty, Inc., is developing a 61-stall public parking lot on E. Second Street, expected ready for use early in November. The lot is located

Bar Floor Burns at Kimberly

KIMBERLY — Minor damage to the sub-flooring in the Avenue Bar, 104 W. Kimberly Ave., was reported in a fire which resulted from an electrical short in the wiring about 7 p.m. Friday.

Firemen soaked the floor with water and stayed at the scene until about 10 p.m. but were called back at 11:30 when the floor again began to smolder.

The floor was again doused with water and Fire Chief John Piers remained at the scene until 2 a.m. as a precautionary measure.

Business was interrupted only momentarily because of the smoke. The spraying of water was confined to the basement area and the barroom was not damaged.

The establishment is operated by Joseph Lesser, 121 Taft St., Little Chute.

Business, Industry Asked to Join in KHS Homecoming

KAUKAUNA — In an effort to make Kaukauna High School Homecoming festivities a city-wide affair this year, members of the student council have sent invitations to business places and industry asking them to submit floats for the homecoming parade at 9:45 a.m. Oct. 15.

Business floats should be related to homecoming and not serve as an advertising medium. Judging of these floats will be separate from the class and club floats from the school.

Budget Requests to Include Funds for Outagamie Port

Federal Backing for County's Navigational Aids Possible After Change in FAA Standards

Outagamie County officials today would improve safety were informed late Friday standards.

John Conway, vice president of Air Wisconsin, Inc., the only scheduled passenger airline using Outagamie County Airport, said he foresees the gradual establishment of a full instrument landing system at the airport.

The information came from Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Green Bay, who said he had been in contact earlier in the day with Daniel E. Burrow, acting director of the Kansas City, Mo., regional office of the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA).

Byrnes said Burrow told him, "On the basis of changes in planning standards, we have determined that Outagamie County Airport does qualify for a navigational aid" and future FAA budget requests will take it into consideration.

"In the meantime," Burrow said, "we are studying the possibility of establishing an instrument approach control zone which, if established, would increase the safety of instrument approaches at this location."

The latest announcement comes just two weeks after the FAA said it was amending its standards regulating the disbursement of funds for navigational aids.

The change in FAA airway planning standards meant that scheduled commuter and air taxi passenger movements became qualifying elements for navigational aids and facilities.

Byrnes, who was instrumental in securing reversal of the FAA policy which had excluded air commuter passengers as qualifying elements, had asked the FAA regional office for action in providing the Outagamie airport with improved navigational aids.

"First in Country" Supv. Al C. Fischer, chairman of the Outagamie County Board's airport committee, said, following Byrnes' announcement Friday, that the Outagamie port is the "first in the country" to qualify for this type of navigational aid.

Fischer said that should the local airport get the navigational aids and facilities, it "cer-

Flames in Cotton Bales Keep Fire-Fighters Busy For More Than 10 Hours

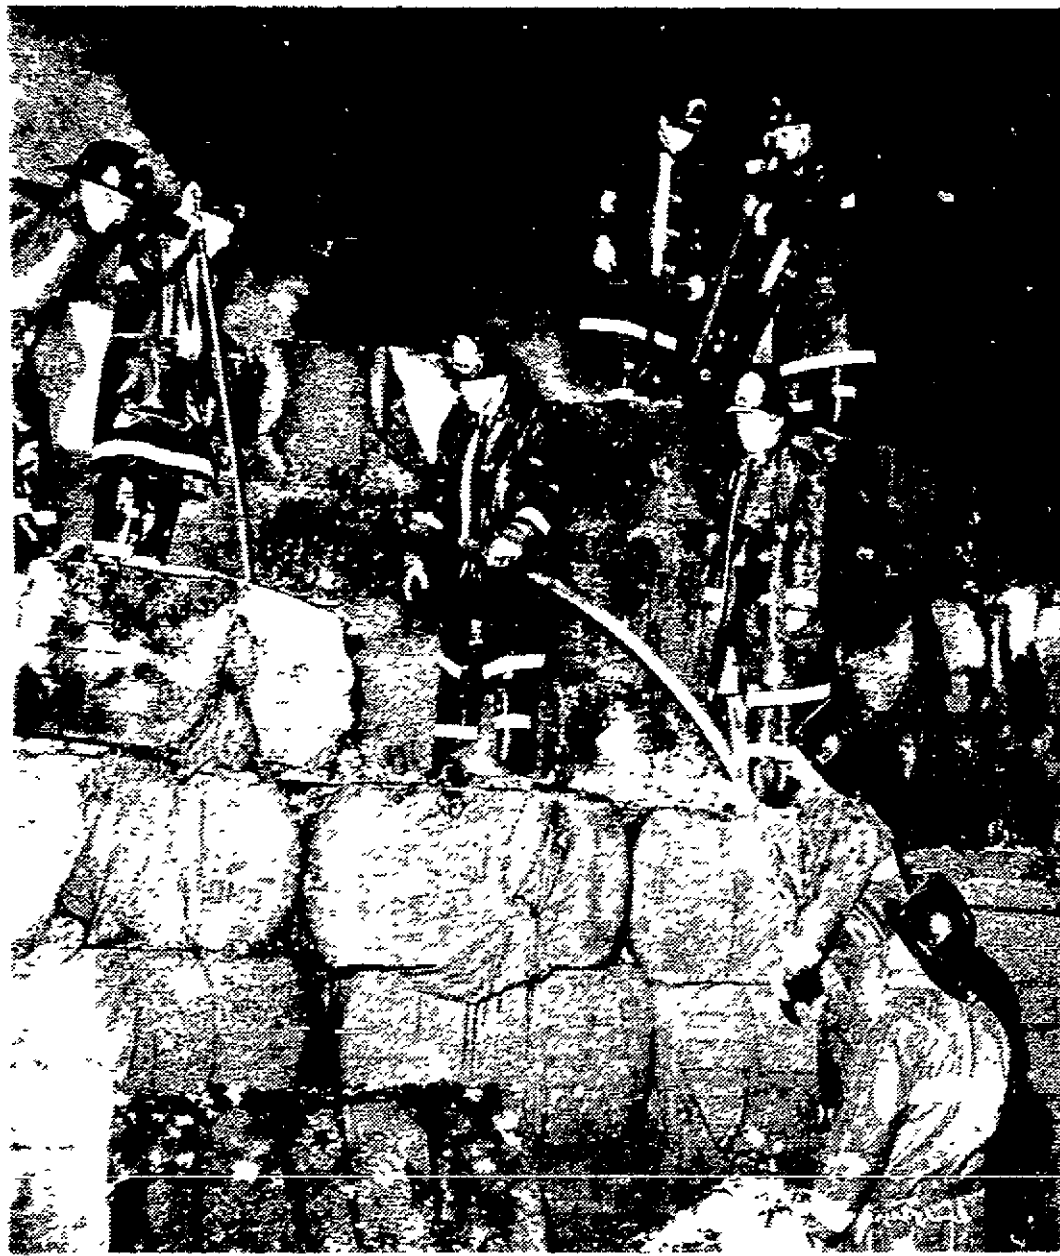

A stubborn blaze in bales of raw cotton was battled for more than 10 hours at an open storage area of the Fox River Paper Co. on the city's south side Friday night and early this morning.

Fire department authorities said the blaze apparently started by three youngsters playing in the area. The night watchman told authorities he caught the children after they had started two small fires in the area shortly after 5 p.m.

He said he rechecked by-bale method of fighting slow-burned the area at 6 p.m. and everything was normal. The fire department was called shortly before 7 p.m., after the watchman found flames shooting high above the stacked bales.

A damage estimate cannot be made until it is learned how much of the material can be salvaged, company authorities said. The raw cotton is used in the making paper.

Two pumpers, a truck company and the rescue squad were dispatched on the original call, been damaged.

7 p.m., kept firemen at the scene until after 5 a.m. today. More than 30 firemen and company employees helped in removing the bales and putting out the fire in each one. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Omro Youth Was Near Target Area

Shooting Believed Accidental

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County Dist. Atty. Thomas Fink has said he considers the shooting death of a 15-year-old rural Omro youth Thursday night to have been an accident.

He added, however, that the possibility of foul play had not been discounted.

According to an autopsy report by County Coroner Art C. Miller, Henry Earl Hobart, he addresses a Kiwanis Club meeting at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday at Hammen's Restaurant.

Nominations for officers and directors will be taken after the dinner and talk. Members will visit the high school to view State Crime Laboratory for work already completed.

Appleton Girl Gets Federal Grant for Studies at WSU-O

OSHKOSH — Sue Kirkerde, will complete her senior year of studies at WSU-O. Trainers under this program receive a $1,600 stipend for the 1966-67 school year with all tuition and fees paid by the federal government.

To qualify for the program, each of the applicants had to attain senior status in education during this school year, be a full-time student and plan to teach. The mentally retarded Selection Board made by a committee from the school of education. Six of the awards were made directly to WSU-O, while Miss Kirkerde was made to the State Bureau for Handicapped Children, Madison.

Also being sent to Madison' gravel pit which was popular were samples of the boy's hair with local hunters for target to determine if powder burns shooting.

Miller indicated his autopsy found none, however.

Miller concurred in Fink's preliminary theory that the shooting had been accidental.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ponratz, route 1, Omro, was found lying face up on a field about 500 yards from his home. About five feet from where the body was discovered, a pool of blood was found, but no blood was evident between the body and the blood.

Heard Shots Rex Larsen, one of the boys who found the body, said a friend of his had heard a shot about 8:45 p.m., 15 minutes after the Hobart youth had left his home with his car, intending to find some pheasants.

The doc returned home sleazened at 7 p.m. After three hours the parents became worried and went out to search for their son, as did Larsen and Kenneth Bruce, another youth. About midnight the two boys were walking through a cornfield and spotted something that looked like a piece of paper.

Larsen said they jumped a fence and found the Hobart boy. Fink has issued a plea to all residents in the Waukau area to come forward if they had been old police the door was intact at 11 p.m.

The boy was found in a cut hayfield just 60 feet from a
